STEVENSON SAYS EISENHOWER HAS FAILED TO LEAD U.S. OR HIS PARTY

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Oct. 13 (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson wound up a Western stumping trip last night by declaring President Eisenhower was "either unwilling or unable" to lead the Republican party.

The Democratic presidential nominee said that national policy "has become stalled on dead center" while the times call for an "effective leader."

"A paralysis of will has overtaken our national leadership," Stevenson told a Democratic rally.

After his speech, Stevenson flew to his Illinois home to prepare to press as a major campaign issue his proposal that the United States take the lead in halting hydrogen bomb tests. He said he would devote to it a nation-wide television broadcast from Chicago Monday night.

Winds Up 5-State Tour.

It was Stevenson's big gun as he wound up a five-day aerial stumping tour through California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana. Their total of 55 electoral votes all went to Mr. Eisenhower in 1952.

But he sought also in his wind-up speech at San Diego last night to make these other points before a cheering crowd of 4700.

1. Mr. Eisenhower has failed as a leader and, if re-elected, would be "a lame-duck President," since law prohibits a third term. Therefore a vote for Mr. Eisenhower is a vote for Vice President Nixon as "the new head of the Republican party."

2. President Eisenhower is a Republican "indistinguishable" from the party leadership and "the Republican Old Guard still rides high." He said that after a few feeble tries at it Mr. Eisenhower evidently long since has given up the job of making over the Republican party.

3. Under Mr. Eisenhower national policy is "stalled on dead center," there is "a paralysis of will" and "something has gone out of American life . . . something that gave people's lives meaning and dignity."

Stevenson said Mr. Eisenhower misrepresented his proposal to bar hydrogen bomb tests. He told an airport crowd of about 2000 at Long Beach:

"The President has indicated that I proposed that we halt tests of atomic weapons. I didn't propose any such thing. I proposed that we halt tests of hydrogen weapons.

"They are not the same thing at all. Perhaps someone ought to explain to him the difference. He has indicated that I favor discontinuance of research in atomic weapons. I didn't propose that at all."

No 'Last Word' on H-bomb.

In his San Diego speech Stevenson said:

"Most Americans I know are concerned and deeply concerned about mankind's need to tame the hydrogen bomb. Yet only yesterday the President said he uttered his last word on this subject.

"I say there can be no last word on this fateful subject until mankind is freed of the menace of incineration. And I shall have something more to say about obligations of leadership to the human race as well as the nation next Monday night."

Stevenson said the United States, in its dealings with the rest of the world under Mr.

NIXON, KEFAUVER PICK VOTES AT CORN PICKING

By SAM B. ARMSTRONG
National Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

EN ROUTE WITH NIXON, Oct. 13—Vice President Richard M. Nixon carried the Republican banner into Minnesota today after a strenuous visit to Nebraska yesterday where he and his opposite number, Senator Estes Kefauver, engaged in a vote-picking competition even as contenders in the national mechanical corn picking contest vied for honors in the corn rows that surrounded the speaker's stand.

Nixon's visit to Alexandria, Minn., home of Representative H. Carl Andersen was an effort to bolster his lagging campaign for re-election. Minnesota now has five Democrats and four Republicans in the House and Andersen, who received 52.6 per cent of the votes cast in the Seventh District in 1954 now is the hardest pressed of the party's candidates. The Vice President spoke last night at Negaunee, Mich., spending the night at Ishpeming.

A dust-laden 25-mile-an-hour wind almost whipped the bunting from the speaker's platform at Columbus, Nebr., where further discomfort was added by a blazing sun that sent the mercury into the high 80's.

Nixon First to Speak.

Nixon was the first to speak, leaving on a careful schedule that avoided the later arrival of Senator Kefauver. An audience of perhaps 15,000 (the attendance at the corn-picking contest the day before had been 7500) listened attentively to the Vice President but gave only perfunctory applause, due perhaps to the disadvantages due to the outdoor platform and the high wind. Nevertheless, it was obvious that Nixon, like Adlai Stevenson doesn't "reach" the farmer in a public speech as Kefauver has been able to do.

"The greatest single problem in the farm belt is the drouth," Nixon said, "and you can anticipate further action."

He said that he would report Nebraska farm conditions to President Eisenhower and indicated that the President would visit the drouth area to see for himself after the election.

Elements of Farm Program.

Nixon enumerated "the major weapons of the Eisenhower Administration drive to give a fair share of the nations' productivity" to farmers, as:

"The soil bank program; an imaginative, bold program of surplus disposal that gets America's wheat and corn and cattle into the hands of those who need them; liberalized credit to meet the needs of family farm-

Inquiries by 'the People' Often Require Mere Agreement With Questioners.

By EDWARD F. WOODS
A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13—President Eisenhower starred last night in a television program upon which not even Robert Montgomery, his TV mentor, could have made him look better.

Billed as "The People Ask the President," the President's 30-minute nationally televised show was a simulated press conference. Instead of Washington news correspondents asking the questions, the questions came from "the people."

"The people" were represented in the advance billing as being 100 representatives of the great masses from all over the country. As the list of prospective interrogators was released just before the President went on the screen, those identifiable added up to 57.

100 Seated in Room.

Nevertheless, more than 100 persons were seated in the Continental room of the Sheraton Park Hotel awaiting the President's arrival there, as prospective questioners. Among them were three or four youngsters who, tired of the heat and light, stirred up commotion enough to make it clear they were ready to go home.

Statistically, the President in the 28 minutes he was on the television screen was asked 12 questions and in the 13 minutes he stayed with "the people" after the television time was up, he was asked six.

This left out the bulk of the 100 who supposedly were on hand to ask questions, not the least of whom were Phil Rizzuto, former Yankee shortstop, who was forced this year to accept an unconditional release from the New York baseball team, and John Roosevelt, youngest son of the late President Roosevelt, who a long time ago elected to take unconditional release from his father's political philosophy.

Aid Sets the Course.

Murray Snyder, assistant press secretary to the President, set the course for the people asking the questions a few minutes before the President arrived.

Snyder informed his listeners that this was the first time a President had used the medium of television for such a purpose. He went on to say that the prospective questioners knew the rules of a presidential press conference from having watched televised press conferences.

His instructions were: Stand, get recognition, state your name, residence and occupation and then put your question to the President.

As matters developed, however, few apparently had listened to Snyder. The questioners as they gained recognition, with few exceptions took off on laudatory excursions dealing with the President's previously expressed views on a variety of subjects and wound up with questions which invited him to agree with what he and the questioner already had said and

LIQUOR STORE ROBBED OF $900, OWNER BOUND

Marcellus J. Ell, operator of a package liquor store on St. Charles road near the Missouri river bridge, in St. Louis county, was robbed of about $900 last night by a man armed with a revolver, who seemed familier with the premises. The robber bound the proprietor before fleeing.

Ell said he was waiting on a customer when a man wearing sunglasses, yellow trousers and a checkered cap, came in. He ordered a case of beer, then went to the telephone, "to call up and ask what brand to get."

The man leafed through the telephone directory until the customer, who was accompanied by two children, departed, then drew a revolver and ordered Ell to hand over his cash.

"Put it in a bag," the robber directed as the proprietor emptied the cash drawer.

"Now get the rest of it," the man said, motioning Ell to a desk in a rear room. Ell produced additional funds from a desk drawer, placing the money in the bag.

Ordering his victim to lie on the floor, the robber produced adhesive tape and forced Ell to bind his own legs. The robber then taped Ell's hands, and instructed him to lie still for 10 minutes.

Ell freed himself and ran to a filling station across the street. The attendant said he had noticed a man drive away from the liquor store.

An automobile similar to the one described by the attendant was found abandoned a short distance from the robbery scene, the engine still warm. The car was reported stolen in St. Louis yesterday.

On Aug. 6, 1955, Ell reported he was robbed of $2400 in the store by a man armed with a pistol. The robber placed the loot in a paper bag, and forced his victim to bind his own legs with tape. That robber was about six feet, four inches tall, answering the description of a man sought in other robberies. The holdup man last night was about five feet, seven inches tall, weighing about 165 pounds, Ell reported.

EARTH REPORTED FREE OF SATELLITES EXCEPT FOR MOON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (AP) —The Army said yesterday that three years of searching have failed to locate any earth satellites besides the moon.

An Army spokesman said the most recent reports from astronomer Clyde Tombaugh on studies started in 1953 were that no unusual sightings had been made. However, Tombaugh's final report, soon due, has not yet been received.

Army Ordnance ordered the study to explore the possibility that small unseen satellites might be circling the earth 200 or more miles out in space. Such miniature moons could be potential hazards to space flight.

Tombaugh is the discoverer of the planet Pluto, the only new planet to be discovered for many years. He has been making his observations at the Army's White Sands (N.M.) Proving Ground, in Peru, and more recently at Lowell Observatory, Flagstaff, Ariz.

HODGE'S FRANTIC EFFORTS TO SELL SECRET STOCK IN BANK DISCLOSED

Arthur M. Wirtz Testifies Eagerness Aroused Suspicion, but He Bought Shares for $301,455.

By ROBERT A. DUNLAP
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Oct. 13—Frantic efforts by Orville E. Hodge to dispose of his secretly held shares in the Bank of Elmwood Park at the time the financial scandal began breaking in the State Auditor's office were described yesterday by Arthur M. Wirtz, wealthy real estate man here.

Wirtz, testifying before the Senate Banking Committee, told of receiving an "urgent call" from Hodge from the Auditor's office at Springfield last June. Hodge, at his request, met Wirtz here a few days later and asked him to buy the 11,165 shares of bank stock held by the then Auditor.

"This was the first time I really knew Hodge was the actual owner of these shares," the witness, who already had a large block of the bank's shares, testified.

Denied Anything Was Amiss.

"Hodge obviously was worried and it seemed to me he was in serious trouble. He looked very distressed and rather haggard, but denied there was anything wrong with his office."

Hodge's eagerness to sell caused Wirtz to be wary, but after consulting with his associates he finally agreed to buy the stock at $27 a share. He sent Hodge a check for $301,455 within a few days.

"I thought Hodge's price of $27 a little high, but I'm glad I bought the stock in order to save the bank," the witness said.

Hodge made a profit of $24,600 on sale of the stock. He acquired 3500 shares secretly, under another person's name, when the bank was organized in 1953, paying $20 a share. Later he bought an additional 7665 shares, at $27 each, also in a dummy transaction. His total investment in the stock was $276,855.

Wirtz, one of the original investors in the Bank of Elmwood Park, said: "Had I known Hodge owned any of the stock, I would not have been interested in making an investment."

Heard 'Rumblings.'

He testified he began to suspect in the summer of 1955, as a result of "rumblings I heard," that Hodge had an interest in the bank.

The witness, who heads a group that acquired control of The Arena in St. Louis in 1947, as well as owning the Chicago Stadium and having an interest in Madison Square Garden in New York, explained he first met Hodge when the latter was an Illinois State Representative.

Hodge was working for a bill that would authorize the state to build a large convention hall here, Wirtz said.

"Naturally I opposed the measure, because I didn't want to see a tax-free institution in competition with my own Chicago Statdium," he continued. Hodge and I were on completely opposite sides of the fence."

Wirtz told the committee he bought 6075 shares of stock when the Bank of Elmwood Park was organized and later acquired an additional 8925, giving him almost half of the stock outstanding before he purchased Hodge's 11,165 shares.

"We intend to distribute this stock to reputable people in the community as soon as it is feasible," the witness said. "The bank is a sound bank. Its statement as of June 30 showed that 72 per cent of its investments were in cash or Government bonds."

Learned of Green's Interest.

Wirtz testified he learned from Hodge that former Gov. Dwight H. Green, who now is board chairman of the bank, was "interested" in forming the institution.

The committee, which is holding hearings as part of inquiry into the Hodge scandals, is looking carefully into all aspects of the Bank of Elmwood Park because it was organized as a successor to the First State Bank of Elmwood Park, closed on orders of Hodge as state auditor. Hodge is serving a 12-to-15-year

Yugoslavia Openly Reassures West Policy Isn't Changing

Spokesman Says Tito's Talks With Khrushchev Haven't Altered Relations — U.S. Likely to Continue Aid With Conditions.

© New York Times News Service

BELGRADE, Oct. 13—Yugoslavia offered the West open assurances yesterday that its relations with the Soviet Union had not been altered by President Josip (Tito) Broz's secret talks with Nikita S. Khrushchev.

"Nothing has been changed, nor could have been changed, in the well-known orientation of Yugoslav foreign policy," a Foreign Ministry spokesman said at a news conference.

The spokesman, Branko Draskovic, declared nothing had been decided in the recent conversations on Brioni island and at Yalta between Tito and Khrushchev, the Soviet Communist party chief. Nor had any decisions been foreseen, Draskovic added.

His words were obviously designed to allay suspicions in Washington. President Eisenhower must decide by next Tuesday whether continuation of the Yugoslav economic assistance program would be in the national interest of the United States. Congress fixed the deadline in passing the foreign aid bill last summer.

Washington's Attitude.

Over the last six years the United States has invested about 100 billion dollars a year, exclusive of military equipment to maintain Yugoslav independence.

In Washington, it was learned the State Department will recommend that the President decide to continue aid to Yugoslavia with conditions.

Only some dramatic event in Yugoslavia in the next three or four days, indicating that Tito

TEACHER ORDERED SUSPENDED, TAPED MOUTHS OF PUPILS

BRIGHTON, Colo., Oct. 13 (AP)—A school teacher is under suspension at Brighton elementary school for taping the mouths of three fifth grade girls because they talked in class.

School board officials disclosed yesterday they had suspended Miss Esther B. Bogle, a veteran of 35 years teaching experience, on the complaint of parents who said their children were mistreated.

The Denver Post said Miss Bogle, a member of the Brighton school system since 1952, admitted she placed two-inch strips of transparent adhesive tape across the girls' mouths for about an hour one day last month. She said the girls talked in class despite repeated warnings, and caused a disturbance.

Walter Vikan, school superintendent, said formal charges to revoke Miss Bogle's teaching certificate would have to be signed by the complaining parents.

PRESIDENT GETS HUGE BIRTHDAY CARD FROM BOY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (AP) —President Eisenhower, starting his sixty-sixth birthday celebration a day in advance, received a 7 by 8 foot birthday card today from a 9-year-old Connecticut boy.

The youngster, Joseph P. (Jay) Donahue Jr. of Naugatuck, Conn., called on Mr. Eisenhower at the White House as Republicans prepared for "Ike day" celebrations across the nation.

The festivities were held today because Mr. Eisenhower's birthday falls on Sunday this year.

Donahue, who won a contest sponsored by the Naugatuck Citizens for Eisenhower, presented his giant birthday greeting to the President in the White House rose garden.

Mr. Eisenhower took young Donahue into his office and rustled up several gifts for him from his desk. They included a pen, a knife and a silver dollar minted in 1890, the year of the President's birth.

The celebrations will be climaxed tonight by a half-hour Columbia Broadcasting System network television show (from 9 to 9:30 St. Louis time), in which the President will participate briefly from the White House.

Fire Kills Family of Six.

TORONTO, Oct. 13 (UP) — A family of six burned to death early today when fire destroyed their house. Police identified the victims as Leonard Burt, his wife Catherine, and their children, Mary Ann, 11 years old; Michael, 9; Margaret, 7, and David, 5.

HUNGARIANS JAIL GEN. FARKAS WHO HELPED IN PURGE

He and Son Participated in 'Investigation' of Rajk and Other Communist Leaders.

BUDAPEST, Oct. 13 (AP) — Hungary announced today the arrest of Lt. Gen. Mihaly Farkas, former defense minister who played a leading role in the prosecution of former Communist leaders whose names have now been cleared.

Farkas and his son Vladimir, a former political police colonel, helped in the "investigation" between 1949 and 1950 of such prominent Communists as former Foreign Secretary Laszlo Rajk and former Interior Minister Janos Kadar.

Rajk, executed in 1949 for "Titoism," was "rehabilitated" last June and given a hero's reburial earlier this month. Kadar, cleared after spending four years in prison, is again a leading personality in the Hungarian Communist party.

Vladimir Farkas was arrested Oct. 5.

The charges against father and son were not specified but it was no secret they were based on the role both played during the 1949-50 political witch-hunt in Hungary.

Farkas, a veteran Communist, had been an important man in Hungary since World War II when the Communist party took unlimited control of the government. In 1948 he became Minister of Defense, a member of the Hungarian Politburo and secretary of the party.

Last July 22 the Hungarian Communist party's top command expelled him from the party and stripped him of his military rank.

The Defense Ministry announced that five generals "who were innocently convicted and executed" will be reburied with military honors today.

Maj. Gens. Laszlo Solyon and Gusztav Illi and Brig. Gens. Istvan Beleznai, Kalman Revai and Gyorgy Porfi were executed during a purge of Hungary's postwar army in 1950. They were also army officers before the war. The trials were secret and no charges against them were made public.

Meanwhile, a reliable source said Imre Nagy, former Hungarian premier, was readmitted to the Communist party Thursday. Nagy was ousted from the government and party in 1955, as a "rightist deviationist." Matyas Rakosi, party first secretary who ousted Nagy, was forced to resign as party boss last July.

PINEAU, LLOYD, DULLES DRAFT NEW PROPOSAL FOR WATERWAY

Security Council to Get Amended Resolution That Contains Six 'Prniciples' OK'd by Cairo, London, Paris.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Oct. 13 (AP) — Britain and France agreed today on a revised Suez proposal which a British spokesman said would include the controversial demand for international control of the vital waterway.

Such a provision is expected to meet vigorous opposition from Egypt and Russia and may possibly lead to a Soviet veto.

Details of the rewritten British-French resolution were not disclosed immediately, but informed quarters said it contained the six principles agreed on yesterday by Britain, France and Egypt as a basis for future negotiations.

The 11-nation Security Council was scheduled to take it up late today in an effort to wind up the current phase of the Suez canal discussions.

New Plan Drafted.

The new draft was worked out this morning in a two-hour meeting of British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd, French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. A United States spokesman said Dulles was in full accord with the resolution and would vote for it.

The council meeting, originally set for 2 p.m., was postponed two hours to permit Lloyd and Pineau to consult privately with other delegates in an attempt to line up support for their proposal.

A meeting of the 18 backers of the London proposal for international control of the canal was set just ahead of the council meeting.

A British spokesman was asked specifically whether the new draft would call on the council to indorse the London users' association proposal.

DISPUTE ENTERS SECOND STAGE

By ALVIN H. GOLDSTEIN
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Oct. 13—United Nations deliberations on the Suez canal dispute enter the second stage late today when the Security Council meets to receive the report of French, British and Egyptian ministers who have announced agreement in private conferences on the objectives of future negotiations for settlement of the controversy.

President Eisenhower, in a politically-staged television interview in Washington, hailed the development as "more gratifying." He declared it looked as though "a very great crisis is behind us."

The preliminary step, however, still left a vast area of differences to be conciliated before the East and West have a meeting of minds on the administration of the important waterway, seized from its British and French owners July 26 by Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

Emphasized by Eden.

This was emphasized by British Prime Minister Eden in a speech at the annual Conservative party conference in Llandudno, Wales, today. Eden warned against "hasty or over-optimistic judgment on the outcome of the secret talks here."

Eden said "a little progress" has been made but that "wide differences of opinion" between Egypt and the leading nations using the canal still remained.

"President Eisenhower in his press conference on Thursday was reported to have said that you must have peace with justice or it is not peace," said Eden. "I agree with those words. That is why we have always said with us force is the last resort."

Eden said his government had refused "to say that in no circumstances would we ever use force" in the dispute.

"No responsible government could ever give such a pledge," he said.

"To turn a blind eye to the realities of the situation would be to hazard, not only the security of our country, but also to surrender our responsibilities in the world. This we are not prepared to do."

Against a background of newspaper reports that Britain's terms for a settlement have softened, Eden declared:

"That is our position and it has not changed. It remains our intention to seek its acceptance

St. Louis Woman Drifts to Sea On Inner Tube, Saved by Copter

Mrs. Carlon E. Faust Sr., a St. Louisan vacationing at St. Petersburg, Fla., was rescued by a Coast Guard helicopter yesterday after she had floated on an inner tube about one-third of a mile into the Gulf of Mexico. Mrs. Faust, who lives at 9229 Edna street, Bellefontaine Neighbors, cannot swim.

She and an acquaintance, Mrs. Kay Kieleen of Decatur, Ill., who also was floating on an inner tube, discovered a strong wind was carrying them into the gulf off Holiday Isle. Mrs. Kieleen managed to make her way back to the beach to give the alarm.

"I just kept paddling and kept calm," Mrs. Faust said today. "Mrs. Kieleen said she would get help, and I knew it would come. When the helicopter arrived and lowered the basket, I just climbed in, inner tube and all."

Mrs. Faust, 52 years old, got a 15-mile ride in the helicopter to the Coast Guard station. Her husband, manager of the Kirkland DeLuxe Travel Service domestic department, who had been resting in the Fausts' hotel room when his wife's adventure occurred, drove to the station to return her to the resort.

Sergeant Grabs Two Jumpers, Three Descend on One 'Chute

FORT BRAGG, N.C., Oct. 13 (AP) — Two paratroopers could thank a quick-thinking master sergeant for saving them from possible death or serious injury when he grabbed them in a jump and the three descended on one parachute.

The incident occurred Wednesday in a mass jump at Fort Benning, Ga. The hero is Master Sgt. Louis Berthiaume of New Orleans, a veteran of 15 years service, who held on to Pfc. Frank L. Ruminer of Pittsburgh and Sp. 3C William J. Meek of Chillicothe, O., after their parachutes became entangled.

Berthiaume, whose chute was fully opened, said he saw Ruminer's boots coming "at me from the right" 800 feet over the drop zone. Ruminer's chute became entangled in Berthiaume's suspension line and as he slid by, Berthiaume grabbed him. Ruminer said he "had been swinging wide from another trooper to avoid tangling with his chute."

Meek's parachute then fell atop Berthiaume's becoming entangled in the upper part. Berthiaume grabbed him and the three rode down together. They did not use their emergency chutes for fear of worsening the situation.

Meek suffered two sprained ankles, the only injuries among the three.

Six Negro Leaders Say Evasion Case Against Aid Was Used to Induce Support From Lawmaker.

The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 — Six Negro Democratic leaders here charged yesterday that Representative Adam Clayton Powell was induced to support the re-election of President Eisenhower because of "pressure" from the White House in connection with the tax evasion trial of Acy Lennon, his secretary, in United States District Court.

"The people of Harlem regret that the White House was able to apply sufficient pressure upon Adam Clayton Powell at the time of the trial of another of his personal staff, now pending in federal court, to persuade him completely to change his convictions," they said in a statement.

Manhattan Borough President Hulan E. Jack, City Councilman Earl Brown, State Senator James L. Watson, State Assemblywoman Bessie Buchanan and State Assemblymen James C. Thomas and Kenneth M. Phipps signed the statement.

Powell, who supported Adlai E. Stevenson in 1952, announced Thursday that he would enlist all "disillusioned liberal Democrats" to re-elect President Eisenhower.

Dawson, Diggs Affirm Support of Stevenson.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (AP) —Representative William L. Dawson (Dem.), Illinois, joined Representative Charles C. Diggs Jr. (Dem.), Michigan, yesterday in affirming his support of Adlai Stevenson. The two Negro Congressmen thus opposed the stand of a third Negro member of the House, Representative Powell of New York.

Dawson, who is a vice chairman of the Democratic National Committee, said he knew Stevenson "will give to the office of President that sincere devotion to duty that he has given in every official capacity in which he has served the American people."

On the other hand, Dawson said, President Eisenhower "has fallen down" on his responsibilities as President.

Willard Townsend, Negro who heads the United Transport Service Employes union and is an AFL-CIO vice president, denounced Powell yesterday. He said Powell had been guilty of "a shocking betrayal of his race and party."

Mrs. Roosevelt Assails Powell as 'Demagogue.'

PATERSON, N.J., Oct. 13 (UP)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt lashed out at Representative Adam Clayton Powell of New York, yesterday for switching to the Eisenhower-Nixon ticket. Touring New Jersey on behalf of Democratic presidential nominee Adlai E. Stevenson, she called Powell a "demagogue for whom I have never had much respect."

Mrs. Roosevelt conceded that Powell had "some influence," but she did not think the switch would "cost many votes."

ISRAEL, JORDAN TROOPS EXCHANGE FIRE IN JERUSALEM

JERUSALEM, Jordan Sector, Oct. 12 (AP)—Israel and Jordan troops exchanged fire for 15 minutes across the divided city of Jerusalem yesterday. The firing was stopped by United Nations truce observers.

A Jordanian military source said Jordan claimed the Israelis started the firing, and lodged a complaint with the U.N.-sponsored mixed armistice comission.

Reliable sources in the Israeli sector said Britain had officially urged Israel to remain silent if Iraq sent troops into Jordan.

Foreign Minister Golda Meir flatly rejected the suggestion conveyed by Peter Westlake, British charge d'affaires, informants said. She then summoned United States Ambassador Edward Lawson and Jean Fernand-Laurent, the French charge, and told them of Israel's attitude.

PRESIDENT ORDERS TANKER FLEET STUDY

Clears Way for Construction to By-Pass Suez Canal If Necessary.

© New York Times News Service

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 — President Eisenhower yesterday cleared the way for the construction of tankers to by-pass the Suez canal if that becomes necessary.

Acting on a report received from Arthur S. Flemming, director of the Office of Defense Mobilization, the President authorized Flemming to make a prompt survey of tanker needs and to use Government authority to see that the vessels are built if needed.

At the State Department officials said that "it would be a mistake to assume that the President's action was timed to "pressure" Egypt into an early settlement of the Suez canal dispute.

Officials at ODM and at the Federal Maritime Administration said that a broader tanker program had been discussed in Government circles as much as a year ago.

In his memorandum to Flemming yesterday the President directed him to meet with the National Petroleum Council and the Secretaries of State, Treasury, Interior and Commerce to consider what steps might be planned.

"These plans should, so far as the interests of the United States are concerned," the President said, "provide for the building in United States shipyards of a sufficient number of large tankers to help supplement existing means of distribution and, if necessary, to help serve as an alternative means of distribution in the transportation of oil to the free world, particularly from the Middle East.

In a talk with correspondents after he had visited with the President, Flemming said that "it would be a good guess to assume that any tanker program decided upon would embrace the construction of around 50 vessels of 45,000 tons or more.

He would make no guess as to the cost of each tanker but said that 60,000-ton vessels cost about $18,000,000 each to build.

GUSTAV MESMER TO DIRECT TECHNOLOGY INSTITUTE HERE

Gustav Mesmer, professor and head of the department of applied mechanics at Washington University, has been appointed director of the Edwin Henry Sever Institute of Technology, it was announced today by Chancellor Ethan A. H. Shepley.

At the same time, Shepley announced that Don A. Fischer, acting dean of the school of engineering for the last 1½ years, has been named dean of the school. Both appointments, which are to become effective immediately, were made by the university's board of directors.

Mesmer, who in his new position will head the university's graduate engineering division, has been a member of the faculty there since 1950. Fischer, who was graduated from the university with degrees in engineering and in law, has held various teaching and administrative positions since 1941.

STANARD URGES INQUIRY INTO LIQUOR LAW VIOLATIONS

An immediate circuit court grand jury inquiry into enforcement of liquor laws in St. Louis was urged yesterday by William K. Stanard, Republican candidate for Circuit Attorney. He spoke at a meeting of the Twenty-seventh Ward Republican Club at Walnut Park American Legion Post.

"The law prohibiting sale of liquor to minors has not been enforced strictly," Stanard said, "and this negligence has been a contributing factor to the rising tide of juvenile delinquency. It has been shown that the Prosecuting Attorney has refused to issue warrants in some serious cases of liquor law violations and that the state liquor supervisor has delayed citing violators and setting hearings for revocations of licenses."

RED DISCUS STAR ON WAY TO RUSSIA AFTER PAYING FINE

LONDON, Oct. 13 (AP)—Russian discus champion Nina Ponomareva, haled into a British court on shop-lifting charges, is returning home after paying court costs.

The 27-year-old athlete, who had been hiding 44 days in the Soviet Embassy in London appeared unexpectedly yesterday and stood trial on the charge of stealing five cheap hats from a London store.

She pleaded not guilty, saying she bought the hats. But she was convicted after the magistrate found the case against her proved.

He told her she could be released on payment of three guineas ($8.82) costs. A Soviet Embassy representative paid the money.

Later Nina boarded a Russian steamship for the six-day voyage back to Russia.

The Russians labeled the theft charge a "dirty provocation" and asked the British Foreign Office to have the case dropped but the Foreign Office refused to interfere with the court system.

FRANCE, BRITAIN REVISE PLAN FOR SUEZ CANAL

by negotiation if we possibly can."

Six basic principles for settlement were accepted in the private talks among Egypt, Britain and France:

"1. There shall be free and open transit through the canal without discrimination overt and covert. (This principle covers the same ground as the corresponding principle of the Constantinople convention; that is, it covers the technical as well as the political aspects with which point 3 below is also concerned.)

"2. Egypt's sovereignty shall be respected.

"3. The operation of the canal shall be insulated from the politics of any country.

"4. The manner of fixing tolls and charges shall be decided by agreement between Egypt and the users.

"5. A fair proportion of the dues shall be allotted to development.

"6. In case of dispute, unresolved affairs between the Suez Canal Co. and the Egyptian government shall be settled by arbitration with suitable terms of reference and suitable provisions for the payment of sums found to be due."

Use of Key Word Avoided.

It was notable that the agreement avoided use of the term "internationalization" as a substitute for the assurances of free access of all governments provided in the 1888 Constantinople convention. That was the panacea considered to be the foundation of the British-French resolution, backed by the United States, which is before the Security Council.

Egypt has not budged from its adamant refusal even to discuss international administration of the canal, which was operated until nationalized by Egypt, by the Universal Suez Canal Co., a private corporation owned chiefly by the British government and individual French investors. France and Britain urged control by an international board of "users."

The broadly-phrased articles of agreement submitted to the council yesterday in secret session by U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold actually failed to reflect any change of position on either side. Admittedly, they were the result only of "exploratory" discussions and only in that sense could they be considered signs of progress toward solution of the dispute.

To Continue Talks.

What the Hammarskjold report did disclose was that the French, British and Egyptians wanted to continue discussion of the problem on a diplomatic high level. It encouraged the thought that violence was not contemplated. It underlined the importance of U.N. mediation under the skilled guidance of the practiced hand of Hammarskjold.

Christian Pineau, French Foreign Minister, asserted before the council session that agreement on the six-point list of objectives was "great progress." He hastened to add, however, that great differences still existed on the "means of implementation."

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles saw the fixed principles as "partial agreement." Asked if accord was in prospect, Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi told reporters:

"Not yet." Selwyn Lloyd, British Foreign Secretary said "there are still wide differences."

Colonialism Link Denied.

In his speech in Wales, Eden chided Dulles, although he did not mention the Secretary by name. The Prime Minister said the canal dispute had been linked with "colonialism"—a clear reference to remarks made by Dulles at a Washington press conference.

"No comment could be more misleading," said Eden. "Colonialism has nothing to do with the matter one way or another. We have never disputed Egyptian sovereignty. What is at stake in this dispute is whether the sanctity of contract has to be respected or not."

URGES RECOVERY OF PART OF POLIO SHOT PAYMENTS

Congressman Urges Price Cut, FTC Study and Inquiry Under Anti-Trust Laws.

© New York Times News Service

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 — A member of the House Government Operations subcommittee investigating possible Salk vaccine price-fixing proposed yesterday that the government get part of its vaccine money back and pay less in the future.

Representative Chet Holifield (Dem.), California, urged such action despite testimony from Robert A. Bicks of the anti-trust division of the Department of Justice that an early and thorough investigation of the first Salk vaccine price rise in April 1955 had shown no collusion of manufacturing companies on prices.

Outlay of $13,000,000.

Public Health Service officials testified yesterday that the federal government has spent $13,000,000 so far in the purchase of Salk vaccine in its two-year program to insure that no child in the country need go without it for lack of money. The rest of the $32,400,000 thus far spent in the program went in cash grants to states which made their own purchases. A federal funds total of $53,600,000 has been allocated for Salk purchases.

Representative Holifield charged "collusive practices and price-fixing" on the part of the vaccine-producing companies in their dealings with the Federal Government.

He said that the five Salk-producing companies on three separate occasions had come up with the same bid. He drew from Bicks a statement that "a pattern of identical bidding if continued long enough would warrant investigation."

Holifield's Suggestions.

Holifield then proposed:

1. That the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare be requested to examine present contracts "with the purpose of reducing price and recovering past excess payments."

2. That the Secretary be asked to examine procurement structure and personnel with a view to strengthening competitive bidding practices.

3. That the Comptroller General be asked to audit all transactions and determine if any funds can be recovered by the Government.

4. That the Federal Trade Commission be asked to study the pattern of distribution and price in the drug industry, particularly in reference to Salk vaccine, for monopolistic practices.

5. That the entire record of the hearings be sent to the Attorney General "to see if anti-trust violations took place not only in pricing but also in the manner of distribution." Distribution was by a voluntary allocation system.

Illinois Paid Less.

Subcommittee counsel James R. Naughton brought out testimony from public health officials that the state of Illinois had paid the Thrifty Drug Co. on two occasions less for the Salk vaccine than the federal government was paying.

On a third deal, the Public Health witnesses said, Illinois contracted with Thrifty at $6.63 a vial as against the Federal Government's $7.12 price, but accepted no delivery until months later when the Federal Government was paying only $5.70 and so Illinois lost money.

Public Health service witnesses said contracts could be reopened if a state was charged less for vaccine than the Federal Government was. Holifield suggested some money might come back on this basis.

Text of Stevenson's Speech in San Diego

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Oct. 13 (AP). Following is the text of Adlai E. Stevenson's address at a Democratic political rally here last night:

THIS is the third time I've come to San Diego this year. This isn't as many as I'd like. And yet it's enough to have the feeling that I'm among friends, and that's a good feeling. Sometime I'm going to come here just for a visit.

And if you think that's something I tell all the folks, I might tell you that my fondness for this state got me in first-class trouble two weeks ago in Miami, Florida. I was going full speed ahead when I heard myself saying "and you folks here in California know what I mean." They sure did!

I heard later that the Republican truth squad which has been following me around put out a special report on that slip-up in Miami. It was the first raw meat they'd had in the campaign.

And I've had a lot of fun with this truth squad today. This is Columbus day. And I've been reminding these campaign followers that there were truth squads in Columbus' time, too. They followed him around, saying "The world is flat. Go back. Go back. The world is flat."

Well, I have a truth these Republican truth squads won't like. Yesterday and today here in California I've been watching something that's been happening all across the country; and that's that people everywhere are turning to the Democratic party.

Cites Alaska Vote.

And when I say "everywhere," I now include the Territory of Alaska. For on Tuesday of this week the people of Alaska voted to fill 21 of the 24 seats in their Legislature with Democrats—an exact reversal of the vote in Alaska four years ago.

And I guess you know that for 40 years now, ever since 1916 and without a single exception, the party that has won the October election in Alaska has won the national election in November.

There are many reasons for this nationwide Democratic upsurge.

One reason is that after four years of Republicanism the people know better than ever that the Democratic party is their party—that it cares for the people, works for the people, and fights for the people.

Praises Kefauver.

Another reason is my running mate on the Democratic ticket, Estes Kefauver.

Senator Kefauver is a great campaigner — as I have good reason to know. But he is far more than that. He is a faithful and effective champion of the people and of their rights and liberties, and he will serve us all nobly in the vice presidency.

Estes Kefauver's record is clear and consistent. He doesn't have to turn over a new leaf, adopt a "new look," at the start of each new political campaign.

I realize that Senator Kefauver's opponent has the preeminent virtue of being a Californian—but a good many people feel that after that there's a long drop.

Another reason for the Democratic tide this year is that this party of ours has become truly the party of youth. I've been campaigning today with Senator Humphrey of Minnesota, Senator Gore of Tennessee, and Governors Leader of Pennsylvania, Meyner of New Jersey and Clement of Tennessee. These men symbolize the young, vigorous, dedicated leadership you will find in our party in state after state across the country.

This is what Walter Lippmann meant when he said recently that the Republicans are the party of the passing generation —and the Democrats are the party of the rising generation.

I am confident that here in California you are going to send to the Senate of the United States another outstanding young Democrat, your thoughtful and eloquent candidate, Dick Richards.

And I hope, too, that you will send Gordon Shepard and George Cheney to join your fine, experienced congressional delegation in Washington.

Let there be no mistake about it: We have the Republicans on the run, and we mean to keep them on the run until Nov. 6.

Now I know that this has all been a blow to the Republican leaders.

Last spring, the Republicans were saying smugly that five or six television speeches would take care of the campaign. President Eisenhower, they said, wouldn't need to go around the country campaigning. Well, as you have noticed, they changed their minds and he's been doing quite a bit of traveling with more to follow. Indeed, I suspect as the hurricane flags are hoisted he'll be here in California too.

I guess they had gotten so used to a part-time President that they figured a part-time candidate was all right too.

We cannot too often remind ourselves that the President and the Vice President of the United States are the only officials who are elected by all Americans. Only from the White House does there come a voice which speaks—or should speak—with equal regard for everyone of us—from whatever state, or whatever race or creed, and of whatever economic condition.

It is important, vitally important, however, that if the President is to be the effective servant of every American, he must also be the effective leader of his own political party. He must, as President, make that party the instrument of the national will, the general welfare. He must be willing to exercise the full prestige of his office to serve this end.

This is one of the great issues in this 1956 election. It is another of the reasons for this tide that is now crossing the land. For the people realize that the Republican President is either unwilling or unable to lead his party leaders—they will follow him to the polls but no further—and that the Republican Vice President, is the heir apparent and his views are adjustable to say the least.

In short, people are coming to realize more and more than the Republican candidate and his party leadership are indistinguishable; that this is the last chance to audit the accounts, that this election will close the books, that to vote for the Republican candidate is to vote for Humphrey, for Wilson, for Benson, for Dulles —and for the new head of the Republican party—Mr. Nixon.

Four years ago the Republicans chanted, "It's time for a change." To many voters, this meant more than a change in the control of our government. It meant a change in the Republican party as well.

These voters saw, or thought they saw, in the 1952 Republican candidate the hope for a new leadership in the Republican party; the hope for an end to the Old Guard control of that party, an end to instinctive opposition to every new idea; the hope for an awakened spirit of Republican search for new solutions to new problems.

And four years ago, many Americans who were not old-line Republicans, felt for honest and conscientious reasons, that an experiment with a Republican administration would be a good idea. Some believed that 20 years of power was enough and had worn out the Democratic party. Some hoped that responsibility would civilize and modernize the Republican party. Others simply perceived an inherent virtue in change for its own sake.

I disagreed—as some of you may recall—with the judgment of these Americans.

But I would never question their motives.

Asks for New Appraisal.

Now we are in a position to weigh the results of the Republican experiment. And I ask thoughtful Republicans and independents and Democrats who voted the Republican ticket four years ago to join with us in this process of appraisal.

Let us first freely admit that some Democrats were wrong in some of their fears of Republican government.

Some Democrats believed—and this, too, for honest and conscientious reasons—that Republican rule would result in an open and ruthless attack on the social gains so laboriously won by Democratic administrations under the New Deal and the Fair Deal and so biterly opposed by the Republican Old Guard every step of the way.

Such an open and ruthless attack has not taken place—for at least one obvious reason—they didn't dare.

But what has taken place is something different, something more intangible, something harder to identify. I think the perils are equally real.

What has been the character of the Eisenhower Administration?

Its spokesmen tell us that its overriding aim has been to stick to the middle of the road. I would put it differently. Under the Eisenhower Administration, national policy has become stalled on dead center.

A paralysis of will has overtaken our national leadership. Grim and pressing problems accumulate. But our federal government, the instrument of the people, has stopped thinking, stopped feeling, stopped caring and stopped acting. The Administration's only answer to the oncoming rush of problems, at home and aboard, is a bland and weary complacency, a yawn and an assurance that all is well.

We Democrats were wrong in 1952 if we predicted surgery. But who would have believed us if we had predicted anesthesia?

The Republicans promised the voters four years ago—in candidate Eisenhower's words—"not to turn back the clock." They haven't. But they haven't wound it in four years either!

And at the bottom of all this is the hard fact that the Republican President—after a few feeble tries at it—has evidently long since given up the job of making over the Republican party. And as a result we have had four years of government without ideas, without energy and without direction, made up of leaders who do not wish to lead and followers who do not choose to follow.

During his first two years in office, the Republicans in Congress fought the President on housing, on taxes, on trade and on other key programs.

Privately, we now learn, President Eisenhower was so disheartened with the Republican party that he gave serious thought to forming a third party.

Publicly, however, he expressed his preference for "the election of every Republican over every Democrat for every office any place—including, as you know, a Republican Congressman from this area who had opposed the President at every turn.

'Same Old Republican Party.'

To this day, the Republican President's worst opposition in Congress is still Republican opposition. Senator Knowland still opposes on foreign policy. Senator Bricker still proposes his amendment. And when the President said he wanted federal aid for schools, 119 Republican Congressmen voted against and killed a bill for federal school aid.

This abdication—or failure—of political leadership means just one thing: The Republican Old Guard still rides high today and the Republican party is still the same old Republican party.

A Minnesota farmer came up to me during the primaries this spring and told me he was going to "switch again," as he put it, this year. "You know," he said, "I just didn't realize the Republicans would act like Republicans."

And now it is clear that the loss of new leadership in the Republican party has meant in a very real sense loss of real leadership among the people as well.

Most Americans, I deeply believe, support the decision of the Supreme Court's desegregation decision. Yet only recently, the President said that he didn't think it mattered whether he supported that decision or not.

Most Americans, I am convinced, realize, whether they like it or not, that federal aid is necessary in many places to build more schools and train more teachers. But the President, even though he said he agreed, chose not to throw the weight of his office into the fight for schools. For two years he proposed nothing, in the third year the equivalent of nothing. As in most everything

NEW CORPORATE POWERS FOR CITY TENTATIVELY OK'D BY FREEHOLDERS

Control Over So-Called County Offices and Right to Condemn Residences for Parking Are Included.

New corporate powers for St. Louis, including control of the so-called county offices, were approved tentatively yesterday by the Board of Freeholders which is considering modernization of the city charter.

Authority to condemn residential property for construction of municipal parking facilities and the right to establish a foreign trade zone here were other new powers included in a charter section drafted by the corporate powers committee and tentatively voted by the entire Board of Freeholders.

St. Louis being both a city and a county, it bears the cost of such county offices as sheriff and coroner. Under the present setup, however, the Legislature controls these offices. The city would like to take over administrative control and place the employes under civil service.

In recommending this change, the Freeholders assumed that the Missouri Supreme Court will uphold the charter board's power to take such action. It has asked the court for a ruling.

Political Fight Expected.

Politicians will fight this charter proposal because jobs in the county offices are the principal patronage plums remaining in St. Louis.

The city's program for development of municipal parking lots and garages has been severely handicapped by a state law which bars St. Louis from taking over residential property for this purpose, while permitting all other cities in Missouri to do so.

Hoping that this bar will be removed in the next session of the Legislature, the freeholders recommended that the city have broad power to acquire property by eminent domain. If the Legislatre does not co-operate, this charter provision would be partily ineffective.

Civic leaders have urged that St. Louis, following the lead of New Orleans, set up a foreign trade zone into which raw materials from abroad could be shipped duty-free for processing or for transshipment to other countries. Specific authority to do this is spelled out in the charter provision recommended by the freeholders.

Franchise Provision.

Another charter provision would broaden the city's authority to grant franchises for use of the streets and to exact a tax as compensation. This is designed to bolster the legal foundation for the 5 per cent tax levied on gross receipts of busses operated by Public Service Co. The utility is challenging this tax in the courts.

The 1954 charter amendment authorizing the city to tax earnings without seeking special permission from the Legislature is preserved in the corporate powers section drafted by the freeholders.

Another provision authorizes the city to co-operate with other municipalities or with the federal government in developing public facilities or common services. This purely permissive provision, conforming to the State Constitution, spells out the power already used in establishment of the Metropolitan Sewer District.

Another new provision specifically authorizes the city to accept state and federal aid for any public purpose. This power now is being exercised in public health activities.

Slum Clearance Powers.

The modernized charter would spell out municipal authority to clear and redevelop blighted areas and to draft a comprehensive plan for future growth of the city. These activities already are being conducted.

Airplanes and airports were not a matter of municipal concern when the present St. Louis charter was adopted in 1914. A new charter would include a provision authorizing the city to develop and regulate aircraft landing sites.

The Freeholders recommended that the charter provision for the merchants' and manufacturers' tax be reworded to specify power to graduate annual licenses in proportion to sales. This would bring the charter into conformity with present state law.

The ordinance by which the city controls smoke would be embodied in the new or revised charter.

Neglected Children.

The freeholders approved a provision authorizing the city not only to care for neglected children but to punish parents for neglect. The punishment provision is new, and it was indicated that this might be eliminated on reconsideration, inasmuch as a movement is under way to obtain state legislation authorizing juvenile courts to deal with parents in such cases.

Labor organizations have urged the freeholders to authorize establishment of a tax-supported city college to provide free education for the many high school graduates who are financially unable to continue their studies.

Henry B. Pflager, chairman of the freeholders' corporate powers committee, said this suggestion was turned down because the committee believes that higher education is a matter exclusively within the province of the state. A charter provision for a city college would have no legal effect, he declared, asserting that state legislation would be required for the city to tax its own residents for such an institution.

Police Examining Wine

—By a Post-Dispatch Photographer.

LT. RICHARD K. HACKMEYER (top) and DETECTIVE AUSTIN DUKE of St. Louis county police examining wine in basement of house at 9216 Seneca avenue, Overland, yesterday.

ALBERT BALLMANN

OVERLAND HOUSE RAIDED, WINE AND WINE PRESS SEIZED

Federal agents, St. Louis county and Overland police confiscated a wine press and 675 gallons of wine aging in the basement of a house at 9216 Seneca avenue, Overland, yesterday in a raid reminiscent of prohibition days.

No one was at home when the officers arrived, but they had a search warrant and, finding an unlocked door, they went in. Some time ago county officers had purchased some of the wine and knew the owner, whom they identified as Albert Ballmann. He was brought home later from his job at the Lincoln-Mercury plant in Robertson.

Ballmann told the Post-Dispatch he had been making "wild cherry wine for three years, but this is the first year I ever sold any. Sometimes people give me a couple of bottles of beer for a bottle of wine. I never solicited sales."

He was booked suspected of illegally manufacturing and selling untaxed liquor. Federal agents said tests show that Ballmann's wine is more than 10 per cent alcohol. He sold it for $2 a gallon, police said.

WOMAN ROBBED BY YOUTHS WHO WENT TO HER AID

Mrs. Sarah Trotter, 2702 Belt avenue, was robbed of $23 last night by three youths who, she said, offered her a ride home in their automobile after she stumbled and fell at Union boulevard and Labadie avenue.

Mrs. Trotter said she was walking home with her 10-year-old son, John, when she fell. The youths stopped their automobile, offered assistance and helped her and her son into the machine.

Instead of going to Belt avenue, the youths drove to an alley at the rear of the 5200 block of St. Louis avenue. After taking her purse and the money, the robbers pushed Mrs. Trotter and John out of the automobile and drove away.

MAN ARRESTED AT AIRPORT CARRYING HEROIN IN BAG

A man identified by police as Earl Williams, 31 years old, was arrested at Lambert-St. Louis Field today by a federal narcotics agent and city detectives, who reported he was carrying heroin in a paper bag. The drug, when cut and sold to addicts, would have netted about $5000, the officers estimated.

Lt. Thomas Moran, two detectives and the federal agent maintained an all-night watch at the airport, on a police tip that a dope runner was to fly in from Chicago. Williams, a Negro known to the officers, arrived on a morning plane and was taken into custody.

Police said the prisoner, who lives in the 5400 block of Maple avenue, told them he bought the drug in Chicago yesterday for $500. The officers, who booked Williams suspected of narcotics violation, said he has had previous convictions.

G.O.P. PARADE AND RALLY HERE MARK 'IKE DAY'

Republicans here displayed half a dozen cakes, organized a parade and rally and invited actress June Lockhart to help in their observance today of "Ike day" in celebration of President Eisenhower's sixty-sixth birthday tomorrow.

A parade of about 50 decorated automobiles starting at 10 a.m. from Washington University was the first activity scheduled. Members of the sponsoring St. Louis County Young Republican club planned to tour the northern part of the county first and the southern and western sections this afternoon.

A "chuck wagon" dinner at 6 p.m. will open a rally on the parking lot south of the county courthouse in Clayton. Miss Lockhart is to be the principal speaker. A large-screen showing of tonight's television show celebrating the President's birthday is planned.

The six Citizens for Eisenhower headquarters in the St. Louis area planned to have available birthday scrolls extending best wishes to the President for persons wishing to sign them. Birthday cakes were prepared for display at each office, including one baked from Mr. Eisenhower's favorite recipe. Copies of the recipe were offered at the city headquarters, 304 North Sixth street.

Austin in Serious Condition.

BURLINGTON, Vt., Oct. 13 (AP)—Former United Nations Ambassador Warren R. Austin, his left side paralyzed by a stroke, was in "serious but not critical condition" today. The retired diplomat suffered a "minor cerebral spasm" early yesterday, but a hospital bulletin said he was in no immediate danger.

TAVERN OWNER SHOT IN HEEL BY MAN HE WOULDN'T SERVE

Charles Rizzuti, operator of a tavern at 801 South Sixth street, was shot in the right heel last night by a customer Rizzuti refused to serve, police reported.

The customer, Charles Hall of Arbyrd, Mo., came to the bar and ordered a drink. Rizzuti noting his condition, refused to serve him and told him to leave.

Hall came back, walked behind the bar, police said, and fired one shot, which struck the tavern owner in the heel. Hall was disarmed by other customers and booked suspected of assault with intent to kill. Rizzuti was taken to City Hospital. Last December, Rizzuti and a customer were shot by a holdup man in the tavern.

MAN DOZING IN AUTO ROBBED

Samuel Sackett, 210 John street, Collinsille, was robbed of $18 by two men who grabbed him when he was dozing in his automobile in the 1000 block of South Eighth street early today, he reported to police.

The robbers, Negroes, took his wallet and fled on foot, Sackett reported.

4 ST. LOUIS AREA RESIDENTS DIE IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

Two Belleville Women Killed, East St. Louis Man Succumbs to Injuries.

Four St. Louis area residents were killed in automobile accidents and an East St. Louis man died of injuries suffered in a traffic accident last Saturday.

The dead:

Mrs. Mabel Payne, 51 years old, 73 North Ninety-eighth street, Belleville.

Mrs. Elizabeth Potts, 54, 54 North Ninety-eighth street, Belleville.

Hillery Parres, 68, 741 North Ninth street, East St. Louis.

The two Belleville women were killed last night, and their husbands were seriously injured when an automobile in which they were riding was struck from the rear by another car on U. S. Highway 460 about one-half mile northwest of its intersection with Illinois Highway 13.

Injuries to Husbands.

Mrs. Payne's husband, Clarence, 52, suffered chest and head injuries, and Mrs. Potts's husband, Daniel, 55, suffered head injuries. Payne was taken to St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Belleville. Potts was taken to St. Mary's Hospital in East St. Louis.

Sheriff's deputies reported that the driver of the other car said he was Edward Brownlee, 42, Negro, 2715 Missouri avenue, East St. Louis. He was released from St. Mary's Hospital following treatment for a cut lip.

Brownlee told sheriff's deputies that he was driving south on Highway 460 when the other automobile made a left turn, and he was unable to stop in time to avoid the accident. Brownlee was charged with reckless driving and was released on $4000 bond.

Struck by Auto.

Vanderson died today shortly after being struck by an automobile at the intersection of Walton avenue and Delmar boulevard. Driver of the car was Philip Baker, 64, Negro, of the 4100 block of Lexington avenue, police reported.

Baker, a janitor, said he felt a thud but did not see Vanderson, who was a truck driver. Police said Vanderson apparently walked against the side of the car.

Egelhoff was killed yesterday when he lost control of his automobile and it overturned in a ditch, highway patrolmen reported. The accident occurred on U.S. Highway 40 east of its junction with Route 19 near High Hill, Mo. Until recently he had been supervisor of the storeroom at Joy Manufacturing Co.

On Sept. 21, Egelhoff was arrested twice by the same highway patrolman within hour for weaving on Lindbergh boulevard. On Oct. 2, he pleaded guilty of careless and reckless driving before Magistrate Norman Anderson in Jennings and was fined $100 and sentenced to five days in jail. On payment of the fine, however, the jail sentence was stayed.

Five Hurt Seriously.

Five persons were seriously injured last night when two automobiles collided at Long road and Lindbergh boulevard. Drivers of the two cars were Roy Rice, 47, Indianapolis, Ind., and Robert Souders, 18, 1124 Redman avenue, Spanish Lake, St. Louis county police reported.

Others seriously injured were Rice's wife, Viola, 32, their daughter Luetta, 12, and Mrs. Cleta Lawrence, 24, Indianapolis, who also was a passenger in Rice's car.

Mrs. Rice's three children by a previous marriage suffered minor injuries. They are Louise Crawford, 10, Billy Crawford, 12, and Ruby Jean Crawford, 15.

A witness told police Souders was driving about 50 miles an hour when his automobile approached another car in the same lane traveling at a slower speed. The witness said Souders applied the brakes, and it appeared that they locked. The automobile went out of control and into the opposing lane of traffic where it struck Rice's car, the witness said.

Thomas O'Donnell, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. James P. O'Donnell, 421 East Jackson road, Webster Groves, was seriously injured yesterday when struck by an automobile near his home in the 400 block of Ridge avenue, police reported.

Police said the driver of the car was Harold Helscher, 450 Ridge avenue. Helscher said he was driving slowly and that the child apparently ran against the side of the automobile.

ROSENBLUM ALSO LOST MONEY ON STOCK MARKET

Lawyer Who Took Own Life Admitted Gambling Away Funds of Estate.

Irl B. Rosenblum, an attorney who ended his own life after telling associates he took money from an estate of which he was executor and trustee to pay gambling debts, also lost money in stock market investments, the Post-Dispatch was told today.

A broker who handled Rosenblum's investments said the attorney had suffered losses. He declined to estimate how much Rosenblum lost. The brokerage firm did not lose money on his account, it was said.

Rosenblum had not made any stock market investments with his firm within the last two years, the broker said.

Rosenblum was executor and trustee of the $236,553 estate of George B. Fleischman, former president of Valley Steel Products Co. Prior to his death by carbon monoxide poisoning in the basement garage at his home at 840 Berick drive, University City, last Sept. 24, Rosenblum told the beneficiaries of the estate he had taken money from it to pay gambling debts.

Agreed to Restitution.

The beneficiaries, Mrs. Bertha Fleischman, the widow; her daughter, Mrs. Laura Mae Cassel, wife of Dr. Melvin A. Cassel, and a son, Byron G. Fleischman, whose home is at 606 East Polo drive, Clayton, agreed to Rosenblum's proposal that he make restitution over a 10-year period. He ended his life five months after making the proposal.

When Rosenblum told the family that he had been gambling with money from the estate, he indicated to them, Dr. Cassel said, that there was not much of it left. In his possession when he was found dead, police said, was $6 and in a savings account he had $3.

Efforts to find Fleischman estate assets have been made by Oliver Schneider, counsel for the family. The probate court at Clayton issued an order for a personal representative of Rosenblum to appear by Oct. 29 with a final accounting and settlement of the estate.

If no one appears for Rosenblum, it was explained, the beneficiaries may petition the court to appoint a representative for the lawyer, and the family can then search Rosenblum assets and liabilities for Fleischman estate funds.

Told of Losing Own Money.

Dr. Cassel said his wife had heard Rosenblum say that in addition to funds from the estate, he had lost a large sum, perhaps as much as $150,000 of his own money in gambling establishments in East St. Louis and Las Vegas and in betting on horse races.

He reportedly lost a total of $400,000, and henchmen of Frank (Buster) Wortman, East Side gambler and hoodlum, had demanded $12,000 to pay gambling debts just two days before he killed himself.

Mrs. Cassel said her first recollection of meeting Rosenblum was about 18 years ago when her father met him through another attorney. Subsequently, Rosenblum became Fleischman's attorney, drawing up his will and, with Fleischman's approval, designating himself as executor and trustee of two trust funds established for the benefit of Mrs. Fleischman and the children.

Several years before Fleischman died in 1950, Mrs. Cassel said her father told the family, "If anything happens to me you'll always have one person to turn to." He meant Rosenblum, she said.

Rosenblum's widow, Mrs. Deborah Rosenblum, whom he married in 1952 after his first wife obtained a divorce, said she was stunned when she learned her husband lost funds for the estate and his own money gambling.

"He was the attorney for my family long before we were married," she said, "and I recall we often played cards. He made no attempt whatever to gamble."

She said he frequently went out of town on business and "looking back on it now, he could have gone to gambling places on these trips," she added.

Douglas Attacks Stevenson For 'Irresponsible' Statements

G.O.P. Senatorial Candidate Says He Would Doubt Democrat's Loyalty if He Didn't Know Him.

By HERBERT A. TRASK
State Political Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

VERSAILLES, Mo., Oct. 13—Herbert Douglas, Republican candidate for United States Senator, continued his bitter attack on Adlai E. Stevenson here last night, charging the Democratic presidential nominee with making "irresponsible" campaign statements.

Stevenson's recommendation for a halt in hydrogen bomb tests "was as reckless as his proposal to end the draft," Douglas told a Republican fish-fry rally at the fairgrounds. More than 300 persons attended the outdoor meeting.

Favors Income Tax Cut.

"Unless I knew that Mr. Stevenson was a loyal American I would certainly doubt it after hearing that statement," the G.O.P. senatorial candidate declared.

"As long as millions of men are under arms in Soviet Russia and her Communist satellite nations, we cannot afford to relax and endanger our security."

Douglas told the rally he favors a cut in federal income taxes. He said the first bill he will sponsor if elected will be a proposal to give the taxpayers further relief. Federal income taxes have risen 3000 per cent under Democratic rule since 1932, with the only cuts voted by the Republican-controlled Eightieth and Eighty-third Congresses, he said.

Attacks Hennings.

Douglas a Neosho attorney, also attacked United States Senator Thomas G. Hennings Jr. of St. Louis, charging his Democratic opponent was absent from the Senate on 22 important roll calls.

"You pay him $25,000 a year to vote for you in the Senate, and not to spend his time in swanky suites attending cocktail parties," Douglas remarked.

Meanwhile, Senator Hennings declared in a talk at St. Joseph today that $600,000,000 in federal funds has been appropriated during his six-year term for flood protection in western Missouri.

"Much remains to be done in this vast field," he told a meeting of the Sixth Congressional District Democratic Women's Club.

"Our efforts the last four years have been repeatedly thwarted by a Republican President, unwilling to submit adequate appropriation requests to Congress; and for two years by a Republican Congress willing to follow him blindly."

MISSISSIPPI RIVER RECORD LOW STAGE LIKELY FOR WINTER

A record low stage of the Mississippi river, below the previous mark of minus 6.2 feet, is in prospect this winter, Col. George E. White Jr., district engineer, said today following a conference yesterday of Army Engineers' representatives from both the Mississippi and Missouri river basins.

The low stages are expected to aggravate interference with navigation, which has been felt in the last 10 days at the Alton dam, White said. Low water levels there have made it impossible for fully loaded barges to navigate the locks, he said.

To raise the water level, Army engineers will begin Nov. 1 to draw water from 26 navigation pools on the Mississippi above the Alton dam. "A co-ordinated basin-wide effort will be made to prevent river stages from getting to a critical low level," White said.

"I think we can avoid the stage at which generation of electric power would be affected even if we have abnormally light rainfall during the usual low-water season, which will continue until February. However, if we don't get rain the situation could become critical in the next month or two."

prison term for his part in the scandals.

Another witness yesterday was Clare T. Ireland, former examiner for the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, who became executive vice president of the Southmoor Bank & Trust Co. here last July but left the bank the following month. He is now retired.

Ireland told the committee he quit the FDIC and took a position with the bank at the persistent urging of its directors when the Hodge scandals broke. Hodge had cashed fraudulent state warrants at the Southmoor bank in his $1,300,000 theft of state funds.

Edward A. Hintz, who was president of the bank, is serving a prison term for his participation in the scandals. Ireland said his wife suffered a heart attack, largely as a result of worry over publicity regarding the bank, so he resigned from his briefly-held job.

The witness said he first became acquainted with Hodge in 1935 when Ireland, as an FDIC employe, was examining a bank in southern Illinois, which held $26,000 in notes from Hodge.

"I was trying to run his notes out of the bank," Ireland testified. "Hodge and I were not friends after that."

MAN SHOT, KILLED; MAY BE CASE OF MISTAKEN IDENTITY

Percy Lee Jones, 1904 Bacon street, was shot and killed last night at Jefferson and Cass avenues in what police think was a case of mistaken identity.

Witnesses reported that a man fired a shotgun as an aftermath of a tavern quarrel with a third man. The charge struck Jones in the abdomen. Police are seeking the alleged assailant, who fled in an automobile after the shooting. The three men involved are Negroes.

ROBERT HARRIS CONVICTED OF RECEIVING LOOT

Sentenced to 6 Years as 'Fence' in $80,000 Burglary—New Trial Sought.

Robert Harris, a taxicab driver of the 4500 block of Lewis place, was convicted by a jury in the court of Circuit Judge John C. Casey yesterday of receiving property stolen in the $80,000 burglary of the Andrew W. Johnson home at 16 Portland place last Nov. 9.

His punishment was fixed at six years in the penitentiary. His counsel, Raymond A. Brunt-rager filed motion for a new trial and Harris was released on $6000 bond. The jury deliberated only 35 minutes.

Brothers Acquitted.

An indictment charging Harris and two brothers, Ezra and Hosea, Negroes, with receiving stolen property was voted last December. A jury acquitted Hosea last month. Ezra, who has been described by police as a "policy king" of St. Louis, received a directed verdict of acquittal in the stolen property case.

The prosecution's case was based on testimony of William Melvin Topp Jr., Negro, a former convict, who admitted the burglary and said he had turned the loot over to one of the Harris brothers. Later, he changed his story. The stolen property consisted of jewels and furs.

Assistant Circuit Attorney Edward P. McSweeney charged that Robert Harris took jewels to a loan company and received about $4750 on them. The defense put no witnesses on the stand. The trial occupied four days.

A quantity of diamonds and two furs were recovered from the trunk of an automobile belonging to Mrs. Robert Harris late in November, the same day Harris had been paid $3500 put up by an insurance company for return of the property. The bills were marked.

On the day the loot was recovered, police said Mrs. Robert Harris went to the loan company and used part of the marked insurance money to redeem jewels that had been pledged two days after the burglary. Mrs. Harris was indicted along with the three Harris brothers.

Two days after being acquitted of the stolen goods charge, Ezra Harris pleaded guilty of a federal narcotics charge and was sentenced to four years in penitentiary. He was fined $1000. The charge involved possession of 209 grains of heroin.

A fourth brother, Nathaniel J. Harris, former convict, gambler and politician, was sentenced to 10 years in federal prison last April after being found guilty, along with two other defendants, of buying and possessing 224 grains of heroin.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare; never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Railroads and Profits

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Your recent editorial, "Passengers Aren't Phantoms," leads one to the conclusion that the railroad, which is discontinuing passenger service, is making a big mistake. Your editorial states that the railroad is using an accounting system that shows losses where there are no losses.

In most accounting systems, there is an attempt to place expenses of the products or services in the correct account to determine the individual cost of each product or service. You must agree that there must be some system of dividing the expenses of bridges, rails and yards proportionately between the passenger and freight cars.

It would be stretching the imagination to see a published statement from a railroad having only passenger car operating expenses and not any freight car expenses. But yet this is what the editorial forces on one's mind.

The accounting formula has been in use for 42 years, says the editorial. Many times during this period the railroads showed a substantial profit on passenger service. But now because it shows a loss the accounting system is termed "unrealistic."

No mention is made about the relationship of the decreasing number of passengers on the railroads to the enormous increase in automobiles on our highways or the increasing competition from bus lines.

The assumption that any money the railroads take in on passenger cars is "pure velvet" seems narrow. To what account is the cost of the diner, the salary expense of porters, brakemen and conductor, the maintenance of the car, heating and air-conditioning charged? From your editorial we may conclude that all one has to do is put a passenger car on the road and count the money as it comes in. If one uses the "right" accounting system, of course.

The statement that " . . . what matters is the profit the railroad earns from all operations . . . " is not, I hope, representative of the writer's knowledge of the relationship of profit and loss to the cost of producing a product or service. Has it not seemed sensible that in producing two services a loss in one (due to greater costs) will definitely decrease the total profit when the two are computed together? Why isn't a company justified in dropping an operation if this means an increase in profits?

It is not clear to me whether or not your editorial implies that Mr. Randolph of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters implied that the railroads were using this accounting system to cover up profits made on passenger cars. However, if it did, then why would the railroads desire to cut off this source of profit by discontinuing passenger service?

The editorial may be debated from either view and still it is confusing.

What of Elephant Rocks?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Have the quarrying operations at Elephant Rocks near Ironton stopped? We visited there last fall, and the place was almost unrecognizable. MRS. P. MUNDY.

Kirkwood.

Has Mr. Horton Switched?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Ever since I was knee high to a voting machine I have considered myself a Republican. Always labored under the ridiculous impression that it was the responsibility of the people to support the government rather than for the government to support the people.

But this year of 1956, after reading the Post-Dispatch and listening to Mr. Stevenson's speeches via radio and TV, I have become an ardent, give-'em-hell Democrat right along with you. And I'm going to enjoy it, too, just as soon as I "get wet all over."

I'm getting pretty tired, anyway, of working out my own problems and figuring out my own way of life, even if it has brought me a real nice living the past three-and-a-half years.

Yes sir, I'm going to vote Democrat this fall, and thoroughly enjoy my retirement to this bigger and better WPA that Mr. Stevenson is dreaming up for us all.

Of course I don't know where the money will come from for financing the scheme, with business on the rocks so that there won't be much tax income. But why should I worry about that?

Why should I worry about anything, really, with Mr. Stevenson in the White House?

All I'll have to do will be to send in my name and address to the nearest WPA headquarters (staffed by some more well-paid, mediocre Democrat political patrons) with the simple statement: "Have Shovel, Will Lean." H. HORTON.

The Documented Nixon

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

David Wensby requested those who disapproved of Nixon to ask themselves "What is wrong with Nixon?" I could think of many things that seem wrong to me, but if the gentleman will get himself a copy of the October issue of the Progressive magazine and read Morris H. Rubin's "The Trouble With Nixon" he will get a very comprehensive answer to his question, from documented reports. Even at the peril of being dubbed an egghead if caught reading a book or magazine, the information he will get will be well worth it.

How Ready the Reserves?

It is a mystery why President Eisenhower does not clear away the confusion that surrounds the nation's vital military reserve program. He mentioned the reserves briefly in his statement on the draft but what he said did nothing at all to dispel the doubts about the status and value of the reserve. He said:

> We are doing our best to build a ready reserve that will be strong and effective, not just a paper force. We seek to build this strong reserve, as a needed supplement to our standing forces, and as a means to hold our active duty strength at reasonable levels.
> And this I have emphasized before: I am determined that through a strong reserve, we relieve veterans from being recalled to duty in time of emergency while younger men who have not served stay at home. Selective Service is an essential stimulant for building up the necessary reserve strength.

The National Security Training Commission's first annual report to Congress on the 1955 Reserve Forces Act points out that the armed services are little benefitted thus far by the reserve program. The major goal of the first year was the enlisting of 100,000 youths between 17 and 18½ for six months of active duty followed by seven and a half years in the reserve. Less than 40,000 were enlisted.

Men released from the armed services after finishing two, three or four year enlistments are expected to join at once reserve units for a time sufficient to make their total military duty add up to six years. The vast majority do not join units and so make the major part of the reserve consist of names and addresses in file cabinets.

The reserve units are held together only because they have a strong stiffening of World War II and Korean veterans. These veterans come close to being professionals because of their wartime service, their love of things military and their intense participation in unit training. These are the very men that President Eisenhower must have had in mind when he spoke of wanting to "relieve veterans from being recalled to duty in time of emergency." Yet as the reserve now stands, they would be just as indispensable as when Korea broke.

If those men were withdrawn from reserve units tomorrow the nation would have a reserve so feeble that it would be of the most meager assistance in an emergency. As the reserve now stands it will be at least five years before the younger men have advanced into noncommissioned officer grades and officer ranks in sufficient number to relieve the veterans.

If Selective Service can be made to build up the necessary reserve so that the younger men can relieve the older men from duty that would be splendid. It would be welcome all around. The trouble is that nobody from President Eisenhower on down has demonstrated satisfactorily just how that is being done—or can be done.

With Nothing to Say

Many Americans outside the Deep South were startled when the Madison county commission in Florida fired Dr. Deborah Coggins, a health officer, because in a busy day she had lunch with a Negro nurse. The county commission has now heard Dr. Coggins, and the commission sat in silence. It also heard a model brief in her behalf from another health official, Robert H. Browning. He told the commission:

> The health programs in three counties have collapsed. I say, "Is it worth it? What do you have to prove?"
> I cannot and will not sacrifice my own integrity and self respect on the altar of economic security. What Dr. Coggins did had no more to do with spreading integration than drinking a cup of Russian tea has to do with spreading Communism.
> If there is one Christian among you, one American, let me hear a motion to rescind this action!

Out of Bounds

In questioning a network official about how news of its proceedings is being handled, a House subcommittee is on questionable ground. Representative Celler of New York, whose anti-trust group is investigating television, put the query to Frank Stanton, president of the Columbia Broadcasting System: Was it possible that the subcommittee's proceedings had been "blacked out" on radio and television news programs?

Mr. Stanton responded that CBS never instructs its news department "to play a story one way or the other," and that if the Celler subcommittee proceedings were not being much mentioned it was probably because "our news people thought other events were of more importance in the public eye."

The CBS head would, we believe, have been perfectly justified if he had replied instead, politely but firmly, that the question Mr. Celler asked was outside the scope of the subcommittee's business. It is in fact surprising to find this tack being taken by a member of Congress like Emmanuel Celler.

Surely the potential danger is plain. In the hands of a man as avid for limelight and as much given to pushing people around as, say, Senator McCarthy of Wisconsin, the line of questioning embarked on by Mr. Celler could be a potent weapon of intimidation in the interest of lens-hogging and news coloration. We sincerely trust that Representative Celler will see as much and forbear from side forays of so dubious a nature.

The Case for Mr. Stassen's Job

An interim report by a Senate subcommittee is not to be taken too seriously. Often it is only a means of maintaining the franchise until the committee can find time to draft a more substantial report with meat on its bones.

That seems to be the case with Senator Humphrey's subcommittee on disarmament, which has issued an interim report raising a number of fairly obvious questions about the subject, and making no effort to present any answers. One question raised is whether the President has done the right thing by appointing a special White House adviser to handle disarmament policy, instead of leaving this work in the Department of State, which is supposed to co-ordinate such matters.

Co-ordination has its points, but so does the special-assistant device. While it is true that Secretary Dulles and Harold E. Stassen have sometimes been at odds, and that the pure logic of the organizational chart may seem to call for putting Mr. Stassen somewhere east southeast of Mr. Dulles, many a worth-while enterprise has been buried by bureaucratic nicety. President Eisenhower gave special status to the disarmament project by elevating it to the dignity of the White House, whereas Mr. Dulles, who likes to carry foreign policy around in his hat, most likely would have tended to subordinate it.

It must be confessed that in this case the special-assistant device has produced no very spectacular results. And probably Mr. Stassen's stature has not been increased by his little adventure of trying to disarm Mr. Nixon instead of the Russians. Even so, it does not hurt to place a pushing and ambitious man in charge of a difficult problem. He might just possibly come up with a solution. And disarmament is important enough to justify the effort.

The Time of the Torch

This time of year used to bring the Red Feather of the Community Chest. Now the knock on the door or the letter in the mailbox brings the torch of the United Fund. Between the former and the latter there is a wealth of progress in the way each citizen can help other citizens who need help.

The United Fund, whose campaign began Oct. 9, now represents 117 diverse agencies, from the Red Cross and hospitals to the Y.M.C.A. to religious service groups to art centers to the Salvation Army to the U.S.O. to Travelers' Aid to Goodwill Industries and day nurseries.

In short, the United Fund represents an opportunity for united giving. There are still some health and welfare campaigns independent of the Fund, and the public is free to give to any of them as to the Fund. But a dollar given to the Fund is split more than one hundred ways to health and welfare.

A citizen could not split his dollar to help the retarded child down the street, to provide day care for the infant of a working mother, to put a basketball in the hands of a teen-age "Y" team, to offer treatment to the child with cerebral palsy or the youth needing blood or the elderly man requiring care for chronic disease, to send a family counselor to a young couple or a visiting nurse to a bed-ridden woman, or to feed, clothe, house, treat, advise, rehabilitate, encourage and just plain talk to all the people who still need help in this remarkably prosperous country and city.

The United Fund divides the dollar for the good of all. And for these and a thousand more reasons the Fund seeks $8,250,000 this year in the St. Louis area. The time of the torch is the time for a generous and united investment in a better community.

20 Years After Moscow

One observation may be made with certainty about the current trials in Poznan, Poland: they are not being held according to the model established in Moscow 20 years ago. At that time prominent Communist figures were shamelessly reviled and sentenced to death on confessions which would not be accepted in any other court.

In Poland, however, evidence extorted by the police is being thrown out. Counter-charges made against the authorities by the accused are being admitted to the record, and apparently are being weighed in the reaching of a verdict. While the trials are not yet at an end, there have been a number of acquittals and sentences have been amazingly light. And the procedures are being conducted in the open—in a packed courtroom.

Considering the secrecy and severity with which even the East German Communist authorities acted after the Berlin riots, this judicial aftermath of the June 28 "bread and freedom" demonstration in Poznan is an unexpected exhibition. Of course, the Western world does not know whether any riot leaders were punished secretly, or whether the prosecution's appeals may not bring more severe sentences. Yet there is a general impression that many of those under indictment will be dismissed without even being brought to trial.

It seems a bit extreme to conclude that all this is just another stage-show calculated to convince non-Communists that genuine changes have been made on the far side of the Iron Curtain. A more probable explanation is that the Poles having been granted an inch of freedom —like the other satellite peoples—are seizing a mile. The riots seem to have been a very genuine protest against the Red regime and against conditions prevailing under it. Public sympathy seems to be with the accused. The authorities may feel that they must bow to this, or they may even share the feeling. But whatever the motivation, it is a gain for human rights when law is administered with fairness and leniency.

Since Ivan Really Was Terrible

The historians of Soviet Russia, who present their views in a magazine entitled "Problems of History," have announced that Ivan IV was really entitled to his appellation of "the Terrible." The late Joseph Stalin who was a great admirer of Ivan the Terrible, they explain, was responsible for Soviet history books portraying the murderous 16th century czar as an "angel of virtue." So, under the new regime in the Kremlin, old Ivan is going to be depicted as deserving that "the Terrible." That is all right with us but what are the odds that these new-regime professors will not end up having to refer to the late Soviet dictator as Joseph the Most Terrible?

Slow Motion in the County

It is nearly a year since St. Louis county voters approved a bond issue of $39,712,000 for various public improvement projects which were described as urgently needed. Yet not a single project has been started, and the people are now getting the news that at best only one is likely to be started in 1956.

That is a dismal record for Supervisor Matthews and Highway Engineer Kiburz to point to. Within six months after city voters had authorized a bond issue, the city of St. Louis had let contracts for 20 projects. County officials, when they were given borrowing authority, promised comparable speed. They have miserably failed to keep the promise.

The citizens' watchdog committee has had to hound the county officials at every step, urging that a start be made. Last January Supervisor Matthews promised that $10,715,080 worth of projects would be under way in 1956, the first three or four being tentatively set for a start in April. But April passed without action, as did May and June and all the summer months.

Now Harold J. Lien, consulting engineer on the bond projects, breaks the news that construction is expected this year only on the widening of West Florissant avenue. Widening of Clayton road, widening of Brentwood boulevard near the county hospital and other projects had been promised for 1956. Instead, the county is just getting around to setting up an "expediter's" office for acquisition of rights of way and inspection of construction work, and another office of consulting engineer on road projects. Only this week was the first definite action taken toward acquisition of park and playground sites under the bond issue.

What a record! The citizen will wonder why it is that Engineer Kiburz's office cannot put into bond issue planning the efficiency and enthusiasm which seems to go into the collection of a lug from employes to help finance his campaign for re-election.

Union Report on Community Action

The Mirror of Public Opinion

Teamsters' local applies union procedure to neighborhood "grievances" on street lighting, schools, etc.; denies charge it is building "machine," says program is non-partisan, gives citizen more voice in community; points to rat control victory.

From The International Teamster

During a recent storm in St. Louis, an overloaded sewer line broke and flooded basements all along a South Side street. A member of Teamsters Local 688 who lived in the area called city officials, without result. Then she remembered something she heard in her last union meeting and called the union's Community Action Department.

A union staff member went into action. He contacted the city's Director of Streets and Sewers and within an hour a pumping crew was on the scene. The crew worked all night to clear the basements of water and the following morning another crew repaired the break.

The incident illustrates only one facet of an exciting new trade union activity on the part of Local 688, known as the "Community Action" program.

One campaign last year resulted in an ultimate court victory to see that the city's Rat Control Ordinance was enforced. When a two-month-old boy was severely bitten by rats in his crib during the night, public indignation was stirred. Investigation showed that city officials had decided to withhold enforcement of the Rat Control Ordinance in an area covering about 30 per cent of the city.

Local 688's community stewards decided something had to be done. They organized a special Rat Control Committee which went into special hearings in the city's Board of Aldermen and presented the evidence.

People Have Right to Speak

The voice of citizens was not strong enough, however, to overcome the power of real estate interests who owned most of the property in the affected areas. So the union filed suit to obtain a court order requiring enforcement of the ordinance, and won the case. Today the city is installing rat control stations throughout the area.

The success of the Community Action program in Local 688 has prompted some quarters to charge that the union is building a "political machine." The fact is, however, that the program has carefully avoided partisan politics. It operates on the principle that the people of a community have the right to speak out about their needs and to act in concert to gain improved community services.

The program had its beginnings in 1951 when Local 688 held its first series of "community meetings." Regular shop meetings were suspended for a month and members met on a neighborhood-by-neighborhood basis. In striving for the old "town meeting" spirit, members were urged to speak out about the problems of their neighborhoods—street lighting, police protection, public transportation, overcrowded schools —with a view to establishing committees of union members to seek solutions to their problems.

The Citizen and Government

The philosophy of the program has best been stated by Harold J. Gibbons, secretary-treasurer of the 10,000-member Warehouse and Distribution Workers' Local 688:

"As citizens in a democracy, we have an opportunity unparalleled in human history to have a voice in the affairs of government that have a direct bearing on our lives. Playgrounds, sewer systems, street lighting, traffic arteries, sanitation, safety standards in homes—all these are things which concern us."

To establish channels of communication between the citizen and his government, Local 688 set out to establish a community procedure patterned after the grievance procedure in the shops.

The first step was to appoint community stewards, each one representing 15 members of the union in his neighborhood. Each community steward is responsible for processing "community grievances"—not only from union members but from any resident in this area.

When sufficient grievances have been received, verified and documented in a given ward, a meeting is arranged with the alderman or other elected representative of the people in that area.

If no action is or can be taken at this level, the Community Action Department arranges a meeting with the heads of city departments or agencies involved. Sidney Zagri, full-time director of the program, explains the procedure as a fulfillment of the historic citizen right "to redress of grievances."

To co-ordinate city-wide activities and to provide an educational forum for the members involved in the program, the community stewards are further organized in a city-wide Community Stewards' Assembly. This is the legislative arm of the program.

Civic Stewards in Action

In every case where the Community Stewards' Assembly is considering important issues, qualified persons are invited to present the facts. When faced with the city's recent $100,000,000 bond issue election, the Mayor addressed a meeting of the Assembly.

Through the regular meetings of the Assembly, community stewards are educated in community standards and ideals, various city codes, and what the citizen should expect from his government. They in turn instruct the members in their neighborhood, reporting a grievance, and the agency responsible for handling the grievance.

Following the round of "community meetings," special committees were named to deal with problems of juvenile delinquency, police protection, school facilities and housing.

Last year, the union opened the first in what is planned as a series of "community centers" in the various neighborhoods. In this center, the union provides such services as income tax aid, notary public service, payment of utility bills and procurement of licenses.

Some time ago, rank-and-filers undertook supervision of a weekly "Teentown" where high school students of the area can gather on Saturday nights in wholesome surroundings. Members have spoken to Parent-Teacher groups and high school officials, urging their co-operation in the program, and the response has been excellent.

The union is currently undertaking a campaign for passage of an anti-discrimination bill in the Board of Aldermen which will have far-reaching consequences in eliminating racial discrimination in places of public accommodation.

ONE VEEP TO ANOTHER VEEP

From The Sacramento (Calif.) News

Vice President Richard M. Nixon already has taken a run out powder on one of his lush political predictions.

Recently Nixon proclaimed a four-day week is not too far distant for the American worker, provided, of course, the Republicans are returned to power. Walter P. Reuther, vice president of the AFL-CIO, quite logically dashed off wires to President Dwight D. Eisenhower, Nixon and eight other prominent Republicans requesting definite commitment they would support practically and enthusiastically a shorter work week.

Nixon jumped into the hedge straightway. He said "mere artificial legislation" would not accomplish the task. Instead, he said, it would take the dedicated efforts of labor, management and government.

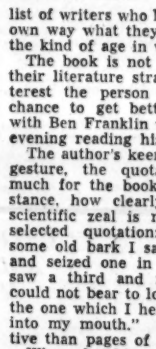
Thus it is clear Nixon is offering no practical program. He just wants to sit in his fortune teller's tent and make prophecies he hopes the voters will link to Republican policies. Reuther did a neat job of breaking the link and demonstrating that Nixon is just reading tea leaves.

Between Book Ends

Rare Beetles and Guinea Pigs

THE CURIOUS ART OF AUTOBIOGRAPHY, by H. N. Wethered. (Philosophical Library, 237 pgs., $7.50.)

The title of this book is misleading. It suggests that the author will consider autobiography as a curious kind of literary art. Instead Mr. Wethered presents biographical sketches of 21 persons, all of whom either deliberately or unconsciously in their books, letters or diaries left interesting self-portraits. Included are such well-known figures as John Bunyan, Jean Jacques Rousseau, Thomas De Quincey, John Henry Newman, and Rudyard Kipling as well as little known men like Richard Baxter, George Osbaldeston, Bishop Ullathorne and E. F. Benson.



George Moore

With respect to time, the book ranges from the sixteenth century (Cellini, Montaigne) to the twentieth (Benson, Conrad and Kipling). Living persons are excluded. The author admits the list is incomplete, but hopes it is a "fairly representative list of writers who have told us in their own way what they were like and also the kind of age in which they lived."

The book is not for those who take their literature straight. It should interest the person who would like a chance to get better acquainted, say, with Ben Franklin without spending an evening reading his "Autobiography."

The author's keen eye for the telling gesture, the quotable passage, does much for the book. Consider, for instance, how clearly Charles Darwin's scientific zeal is revealed by a well-selected quotation: "On tearing off some old bark I saw two rare beetles, and seized one in each hand; then I saw a third and new kind, which I could not bear to lose, so that I popped the one which I held in my right hand into my mouth." This is more effective than pages of analysis.

When sketching a highly cerebral or inward person, the author rarely succeeds. The sketch of John Henry Newman is a case in point. The reader might better consult an encyclopedia. It would be as interesting and more systematic. But when writing about some one given to off-beat behavior, the author does much better.

One such is George Moore, the Irish expatriate, who is vividly set before us, lounging in his red tent and playing with his cats and pet python. Once we read that Moore amused himself by feeding the python guinea pigs, we don't need to be told what a mad, bad young man he was.

In short, an uneven, but often enlightening and entertaining series of sketches. RICHARD F. BAUERLE.

Design for Bachelor Life

THE COST OF LIVING, by Kathleen Farrell. (St. Martin's Press, 234 pgs., $3.50.)

This novel, about two London bachelor girls who live in flats one above the other, begins with preparations for a party and ends with plans for another party, but in between there is a great deal of urbane, feminine chitchat. The grand design underlying both parties is for the two girls to meet some eligible men. Alexandra, who lives upstairs, paints, and Marianne, who lives downstairs and is older, types manuscripts.

Most interesting, though, is Pisa, a voluptuous little gamin from the Continent, who turns up at their first party. Pisa philosophizes in broken English, has all the men goggle-eyed, and later moves in with Marianne to share their Bohemian existence. The narrative is carried forward by lively conversations over glasses of sherry, mostly in Marianne's flat because of her elder-sister role, and Miss Farrell records the spoken thoughts of women as deftly as anyone has since Clare Booth Luce.

In the end, all the eligible young men have been discussed and most of them rejected, but only one of the three girls has landed one so it's time for another party. JACK ALDRIDGE.

$25,000 PLEDGED TO UNITED FUND

Women's Dress Industry Gifts Are 18 Per Cent Larger Than Last Year.

Contributions totaling more than $25,000 have been pledged to the United Fund by the St. Louis women's dress industry, Joseph Glaser Jr. and Carl Glaser Jr., co-chairmen of the unit, reported yesterday.

The amount represents an 18 per cent increase over last year's gifts by the same firms and executives. The fund campaign, which has a goal of $8,250,000, began last Tuesday.

Pledges were made at the women's fashion division kickoff dinner Thursday at Westwood Country Club, which was attended by more than 50 leaders in the garment industry. Additional gifts were pledged yesterday.

The women's dress industry last year contributed more than $49,000 to the United Fund. Other companies and employes in the division will be solicited in the next several days, it was announced. There are more than 7000 persons employed in the industry.

Principal speakers at the kickoff dinner were baseball's Joe Garagiola and Joseph Causino, director of the South Side Y.M.C.A., a United Fund agency. Special guests were Charles P. Whitehead, general chairman of the United Fund campaign, and Kenton R. Cravens, Fund president.

The International Ladies' Garment Workers Union has arranged for showings of the United Fund movie, "The World of One," at meetings of its various locals to stimulate interest in the drive, Meyer Perlstein, vice president of the union, said.

RED CROSS ASSISTS MOTHER OF FIVE WHOSE HOME BURNED

The American Red Cross today announced it will assist Mrs. Georgia Collins and her five small children, whose quarters at 2927 Bell avenue were damaged by fire yesterday morning. The family lost all its bedding and most of its clothing.

Mrs. Collins was at a corner grocery store when the fire broke out, and the youngest child, three weeks old, was in the care of a neighbor. She ran home but was unable to salvage the household goods. The family moved in with Mrs. Collins's mother at 2440 Cass avenue.

The Red Cross said it had given Mrs. Collins cash for immediate needs, store orders for food and clothing, and a quantity of goods from its disaster supply room. In addition, the Red Cross will pay the first month's rent when Mrs. Collins gets established in new quarters, the organization said.

OPEN ASSURANCE IS GIVEN TO WEST BY YUGOSLAVIA

had jumped into the Soviet camp, would change the recommendation, it was understood.

Conditions the State Department was reported to attach would, in general, leave the door open for a quick termination of aid if Tito linked himself with the Soviet bloc.

It was not known whether the President would accept the recommendation, but it was believed strongly probable that he would.

Draskovic's public statement reinforced the private and more explicit assurances given to Secretary of State John Foster Dulles in New York by Yugoslav Foreign Minister Koca Popovic and those given here by his Under Secretary, Srdja Prica, to the United States Ambassador James W. Riddleberger.

Main Point of Talks.

The central issue of the Tito-Khrushchev talks, apparently unresolved, was the difference of view between Belgrade and Moscow on the degree of independence to be permitted Communist parties and governments outside of the Soviet Union.

This divergence was sharpened in the last few months, Belgrade officials say, by Moscow's effort to brake the process of liberalization in east Europe and to immunize satellite countries against Yugoslav influence.

Tito is believed to have complained bitterly to Khrushchev against a circular letter from the Soviet party's central committee warning party chiefs in eastern Europe that the Yugoslav brand of Communism was tainted with social democratic tendencies.

Borba, Yugoslav party organ, hinted that Tito had received satisfaction on this point.

"We are confident that the case has been clarified and that such a thing will never occur in the future," the newspaper said.

PRESIDENT SHINES IN TELEVISED QUESTION PERIOD

made it quite comfortable for the President to say it all over again.

The result was that, in most cases, the President's answers were much briefer than the "questions."

The President opened the conference with this statement.

"I have an announcement. I have got the best announcement that I could possibly make to America tonight.

"The progress made in the settlement of the Suez dispute this afternoon at the United Nations is most gratifying. Egypt, Britain and France have met through their foreign ministers and agreed on a set of principles on which to negotiate, and it looks like here is a very great crisis that is behind us.

"I don't mean to say that we are completely out of the woods, but I talked to the Secretary of State just before I came over here tonight, and I will tell you that, in both his heart and mine at least, there is a very great prayer of thanksgiving."

He did not elaborate.

In Excellent Spirits.

The President was in excellent spirits during the proceedings. He appeared to enjoy the cordiality and in some cases the effusiveness with which he was addressed. Unlike his White House press conference appearances, where he must always be on guard and where he sometimes displays impatience, last night he was relaxed.

He gave the impression of a man who knew he was among friends and very well he might have been, since the word is that the Citizens for Eisenhower and Nixon picked up the travel tab for any among the 100-member panel who did not pick up their own.

Winding up his visit with the "people," Mr. Eisenhower walked through a receiving line, in reverse, toward the doorway, en route to a dinner being given by the Citizens for Eisenhower and Nixon on the same floor of the Sheraton Park but in a much larger ballroom.

Reporters noted with interest the great number of the "people" on the 100-member panel whom the President knew by their first names. To those inquiring about Mrs. Eisenhower's cold, he explained that she was taking care of it.

Standing Ovation.

As he entered the huge room where 800 diners had paid $56 a plate as part of a fund-raising venture for the Republican campaign, the President was greeted by a standing ovation.

The cheers from the diners mingled with the last strains of "Happy Birthday to You," sung by the admirers he had just left. He will be 66 years old Sunday.

Tis tanned face, erect figure and beaming smile were tonic for both gatherings. To the diners he apologized for taking up television time at their gathering that belonged to someone else.

Then with hands overhead in the famed Eisenhower gesture he told them that "when you come down to it everything's going fine and I feel swell."

With that he left the hall to go home to see how Mamie's cold was getting along.

FRANKLIN ROOSEVELT JR. ASSAILS FOREIGN POLICY

The Eisenhower Administration's foreign policy is based on expediency rather than a long range plan for peace, Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. of New York said here last night. He appeared on the "Labor Views the News" program of the Teamsters Joint Council 13 on television station KTVI.

Asserting that the present policy in the Middle East is one which favors the stronger situation, Roosevelt said nothing was done to aid Israel when Egypt denied the country shipping rights in the Suez Canal. He pointed out withdrawal of aid to finance the Aswan Dam and the summit conference as inconsistencies in foreign policy and methods of appeasement by the Administration.

Everett Hullverson, an attorney and treasurer of the local Republican Central Committee, defended the foreign policy of Secretary of State Dulles and President Eisenhower. He stated that America was at peace and the Korean conflict had been settled. Sidney Zagri, community action director of Teamsters Local 688, was moderator.

TRUMAN ATTACKS G.O.P. FARM POLICIES

Tells Minnesota Audience Program Could Lead to Collective Farming.

MARSHALL, Minn., Oct. 13 (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman wound up a busy day of campaigning in southwestern Minnesota by telling an audience here last night the Republicans favor a farm program which he said could end in absentee ownership and collective farming.

"And collective farms," Truman said, "are actually Communistic."

Speaking to an audience of about 1800 in the heart of farming area, Truman accused the Republicans of misstatements on farm matters.

Truman said "their first argument seems to be that Eisenhower is a nice man and very popular. . . . If we elect a man President because he is a nice man, there are a whole lot of candidates who can fill that bill."

He said "the farmer can have peace and prosperity and under Stevenson and Kefauver they will have both."

Truman said President Eisenhower contends farm prices and incomes are up when, according to Truman, they are actually less. Truman said Eisenhower claims credit for the soil bank, adding it was the Democrats who really started it.

In earlier campaign stops yesterday, Truman said re-election of the Republicans could mean another depression because the Eisenhower Administration is "following the same policies as in 1922-1932" and is favoring a special privilege class.

MRS. HOLTON R. PRICE JR. HEADS GIRL SCOUT REGION

Mrs. Holton R. Price Jr., 48 Godwin lane, Ladue, was re-elected chairman of Region VIII of the Girl Scouts yesterday at the twenty-fourth biennial conference of the region at Hotel Statler. She will head the group, which comprises six states, for a term of two years. Mrs. Price also is first vice president of the St. Louis Girl Scout Council.

Others elected regional officers were: Mrs. Winston S. Howard of Denver, first vice chairman; Mrs. Ray Woodard of Saguache, Colo., second vice chairman.

The three-day meeting ended yesterday with an address on "Believing, Belonging, Building Together" by Miss Oleda Schrottky, special adviser of the national field staff, and a report on finances by Mrs. J. Roger DeWitt, member of the national finance committee.

DR. WILLIAM F. ENGLEHART HONORED BY OSTEOPATHS

William F. Englehart, who has practiced here for 53 years, was named osteopathic physician of the year yesterday by the Missouri Association of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons at a session of its annual conference at Hotel Sheraton-Jefferson.

Dr. Englehart, 90 years old, was awarded a certificate and an honorary life membership in the organization. He practiced for 51 years in the Central National Bank building before moving his office two years ago to his home, 5305 Delmar boulevard.

He is a staff member of the Normandy Osteopathic Hospital and a past president of the Missouri Association of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons. The three day meeting of the Association ended yesterday.

DECREE AUTHORIZES SALE OF PLOT IN SHAW'S GARDEN

A decree authorizing trustees of Missouri Botanical (Shaw's) Garden to sell 6.2 acres to the National Council of State Garden Clubs for $55,000 as the site for a national headquarters building was issued by Circuit Judge Ivan Lee Holt Jr. yesterday.

The land includes 600 feet of frontage on Magnolia avenue west of Tower Grove avenue, facing Tower Grove Park. Judge Holt specified that the building should be built within five years.

INDIA METHODISTS MARK CENTENNIAL

Six St. Louisans Will Take Part in Lucknow Festivities.

By JOHN T. STEWART
Church Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Five St. Louis Methodists today were on their way to Lucknow, India, to take part in festivities marking the 100th anniversary of the Methodist Church in southern Asia (India and Pakistan).

Bishop Ivan Lee Holt, retired bishop of the church in Missouri, will leave St. Louis, Thursday for Lucknow. He will give an address there Oct. 31 on the first day of the centenary program. Bishop Holt is immediate past president of the World Methodist Council.

The Rev. Dr. Wesley H. Hager, pastor of Grace Methodist Church, Mrs. Hager, and Mrs. Frank L. Wright, a member of Grace Church, left Monday for Lucknow. They were joined that night at Los Angeles by Mrs. Lawrence McDaniel, also a member of Grace Church, and Miss Vera Flinn, member of Cabanne Methodist Church and art supervisor of the University City public schools. The five St. Louisans spent Tuesday and Wednesday in Honolulu, and arrived in Tokyo, Thursday night.

They will leave Tokyo Tuesday and spend three days in Hong Kong. They will fly to Bangkok, Friday, and will fly to Calcutta the following Monday, Oct. 22. After five days in Calcutta, they will go to Lucknow by way of Benares, arriving in Lucknow, Oct. 28.

The party of five will leave Lucknow, Nov. 3, and will visit New Delhi, Cairo, Jerusalem, Tel Aviv, and arrive at Rome, Nov. 12.

Mrs. Wright and Mrs. McDaniel will leave the party in Rome and, after a tour of northern Italy, will return to St. Louis, Nov. 25. Miss Flinn will visit friends in northern Europe and return home about Dec. 1.

The Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Hager will meet their family and celebrate Thanksgiving, Nov. 22, with relatives in Kalamazoo, Mich., and return to St. Louis the next day.

The four-day observance at Lucknow Christian College will coincide closely with the time of year that William Butler, first Methodist missionary to India, opened his work in the fall of 1856. The centenary celebration will be followed by the quadrennial session of the Southern Asia Central Conference of the Methodist Church.

Forty-two Methodists from the United States will attend the centenary, going on tours sponsored by the Methodist Board of Missions.

EUCLID BAPTIST PASTOR TAKES SEMINARY POST

The Rev. Dr. L. Jack Gray has resigned as pastor of Euclid Baptist Church, 1341 North Kingshighway boulevard, to accept a position as professor of missions at Southwestern Baptist Seminary, Fort Worth, Tex. He had been pastor here for three and a half years.

The Rev. Dr. Gray is a native of Oklahoma, and had served pastorates in Oklahoma and Kentucky before coming to St. Louis. He holds a master's degree in theology from Southwestern Seminary, and a doctorate in theology from Southern Baptist Seminary, Louisville, Ky.

Guest preachers will serve Euclid Baptist Church until a new pastor is found.

Two Pilgrim Lutheran Pastors Mark Anniversaries---50th, 25th

The REV. ALFRED DOERFFLER (left), pastor of Pilgrim Lutheran Church, West Florissant and Fair avenues, who will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of his ordination tomorrow, and his associate pastor, the REV. ELMER C. KIENINGER, who will celebrate his twenty-fifth anniversary.

Pilgrim Lutheran Church, West Florissant and Fair avenues, will hold a special service tomorrow at 7:30 p.m., celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of the ordination to the ministry of its pastor, the Rev. Alfred Doerffler, and the twenty-fifth anniversary of ordination of his associate, the Rev. Elmer C. Kieninger.

The speaker will be the Rev. Dr. Alfred O. Fuerbringer, president of Concordia Theological Seminary, and the liturgist will be the Rev. Leonhard C. Wuerffel, dean of students at the Seminary. A program of music will be presented by the church choir under the direction of Harold Jagels, with Mrs. Olga Hlavas Russell at the organ.

Pastor Doerffler was ordained Aug. 5, 1906, and Pastor Kieninger was ordained Aug. 30, 1931.

Pastor Doerffler became pastor of the new Pilgrim Church in 1907; he is the only pastor the church has had, and it is the only church he has served. His father, the Rev. Alfred Doerffler, was a Lutheran pastor, and spent the last 30 years of his ministry at Fort Wayne, Ind. The son was born at Council Bluffs, Ia.

Pastor Doerffler's mother, Mrs. Magdalene Doerffler, who is 93 years old, lives with him at 4165 West Florissant; also his sister, Miss Adelle Doerffler.

Pastor Kieninger, a native of Topeka, Kan., has been associate pastor of Pilgrim Church since 1943.

HAMILTON AVENUE CHURCH ESTABLISHES YOUTH CENTER

Hamilton Avenue Christian Church will dedicate its new youth center, 5583 Julian avenue, at 11 a.m. tomorrow. Open house will be held from 3 to 5 p.m.

Young persons of the church prepared the center for use, doing the cleaning, repairing and alteration work. Part of the building will be used for Sunday school and fellowship groups.

The church has received a $500 memorial fund for loan to students for the ministry or full-time Christian education. The fund was established by Lee Sanders and Mrs. Lowell McGowen in memory of their father and mother, Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Sanders, who were members of Hamilton Avenue Church for many years.

METHODIST MISSIONERS

The Rev. Val B. Strader, pastor of Union Methodist Church, 3543 Watson road, is one of 12 Methodist ministers from the United States who will conduct a month-long evangelistic mission to the Methodist Church of Brazil. The group will also spend a week touring Methodist missions in Latin America.

The missioners will assemble in Miami, Fla., Tuesday for a two-day briefing session. They will then visit Panama City; Santiago, Chile; Buenos Aires, Argentina and Montevideo, Uruguay and arrive in Sao Paulo, Brazil, Oct. 26.

FIRST CHAPLAIN OF DEACONESS HOSPITAL NAMED

The Rev. Paul E. Irion will be installed as chaplain of Deaconess Hospital tomorrow at a service in the hospital's new chapel at 8 p.m.

Former pastor of Long Grove Evangelical and Reformed Church, Prairie View, Ill., outside Chicago, the Rev. Mr. Irion has just completed clinical training for the chaplaincy at St. Louis City Hospital and the City Hospital of Boston, Mass.

He will be the first full-time chaplain of Deaconess Hospital, which is completing a new $2,250,000 addition and chapel. The Rev. Carl C. Rasche, administrator of the hospital, has also served as chaplain.

The new chaplain will be installed by the Rev. Dr. Erwin H. Bode of St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed Church, president of the hospital board of directors. Others taking part will be the Rev. Mr. Rasche, the Rev. Guy W. Outlaw, chaplain of Homer Phillips Hospital, and the Rev. Dr. Otto Press, editor of the German publication of the Evangelical and Reformed Church, "Friedensbote," and an uncle of the Rev. Mr. Irion.

DIME-A-WEEK CLUB AIDS BROADCASTS

Benefit Lecture for Sacred Heart Program Planned for Sunday.

The fourth annual lecture for the benefit of the Sacred Heart radio and television program will be given at the Sheraton-Jefferson Hotel tomorrow at 2:30 p.m.

The lecturer will be the Rev. Charles F. Dolan, S.J., of the New York Province of the Society of Jesus, who is returning for his second engagement here. Father Dolan will discuss the Ignation Year—Saint Ignatius, who founded the Society of Jesus, died in 1556. Father Dolan will also discuss the influence of the spiritual exercises of St. Ignatius.

A feature of the afternoon will be the presentation of receipts from the Dime-a-Week banks. Members of the Sacred Heart Dime-a-Week Club contribute funds for the production of films for the television version of the program. Mrs. William V. Delahunt is chairman of the club.

The televised version is carried by 65 stations, it is reported by the Rev. Eugene P. Murphy, S.J., director of the Sacred Heart Program.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURE ANNOUNCED FOR TOMORROW

A public lecture on Christian Science will be given at Scottish Rite Cathedral, 3637 Lindell boulevard, at 3:30 p.m. tomorrow, sponsored by the eight Churches of Christ, Scientist, of St. Louis.

Theodore Wallach of Chicago, Ill., will speak on "Christian Science: The Open Door to Progress."

Wallach first followed music as a profession, then engaged in business, before becoming a Christian Science lecturer. He has been engaged in the public practice of Christian Science healing since 1934. Wallach recently completed a three-year term as first reader of the Mother Church, First Church of Christ, Scientist, Boston, Mass.

POLISH PARISH PLANS MORTGAGE BURNING SUNDAY

St. Cyril and Methodius parish of the Polish National Catholic Church, North Eleventh and Chambers streets, will receive a visit tomorrow from Bishop Joseph Kardas of Chicago, Ill., who presides over the western diocese of the church.

Bishop Kardas will celebrate high mass at 10:30 a.m., assisted by the pastor, the Rev. Kazimierz Kiesiewicz, and by the Rev. M. Wachna. After mass, the bishop will confirm a class of children and deliver the sermon.

At 3 p.m., Bishop Kardas will lead a motorcade from the church to Chambers Park, which the parish owns in St. Louis county, on Highway 140, two miles west of the intersection with Highway 67. Bishop Kardas will preside at a ceremony of burning the mortgage on the park.

The church park has 25 acres, and is equipped with hall, service rooms, two pavilions, and playgrounds for children, teenagers and adults. Members of the parish contributed the labor on the building projects; now they have paid off all the debt.

St. Cyril and Methodius Church was founded 49 years ago by Polish-Americans.

Cathedral Marks Anniversary.

Archbishop Joseph E. Ritter will celebrate pontifical mass at noon tomorrow at St. Louis Cathedral, Lindell boulevard and Newstead avenue, celebrating the thirtieth anniversary of the dedication of the cathedral, which took place Oct. 12, 1926.

Illini Are Targets as Ohio State Begins Another Title Hunt

Bucks on 13-Game Streak in Big Ten

By Robert Morrison
Of the Post-Dispatch Staff.

CHAMPAIGN, ILL., Oct. 13—It's just the sort of situation that could promote a resounding upset, but nobody could be found willing to risk much that it happens as Illinois played favored Ohio State before some 60,000 at Memorial Stadium today.

The cab driver to the Huff Gym just shook his head. "I don't think it'll happen and here's why," he said passing back a small clipping that listed the 13 consecutive Big Ten games the champion Buckeyes have won in the past two seasons.

This record, coupled with the beliefs that (1) maybe Ohio is better than it was even when it had Hopalong Cassady and (2) that Illinois has some way to go to become a real contender, makes for just one answer to the proposition.

Ohio's rating as the favorite was well justified and 13 points seemed nearly correct as a predicted margin of victory than the seven listed on some football cards.

Things That Hurt.

"Mistakes of inexperience have caused our troubles and I can't criticize our kids for that," said Ray Eliot, whose squad was rated high before the season but has quickly fallen from that esteem.

After pulling out a victory over California, and then losing to a University of Washington team previously walloped by Minnesota, the Illini aren't necessarily gaining in experience. Injury to Capt. Jim Minor, center who was to miss the game and be replaced by relatively inexperienced Ken Sutter, and the shift of soph Jack Deleveaux to starting fullback, didn't improve the experience situation.

Bob Mitchell, a record-setting Big Ten ball carrier last season, is ready and was to play, Eliot said, if it seems he can do the team som good. But he was wearing a brace on the injured knee that kept him out of the first two games and that, the coach remarked, would hamper the shiftiness that sets him apart as a classy offensive threat.

On the other hand, Woody Hayes Buckeyes, beginning their quest for an unprecedented third consecutive undisputed conference championship, appeared poised for a successful 1956 league opener.

Buckeyes Better Balanced.

Writers with the Ohio team say it is certainly a "more ready" team at this stage of the season than it was a year ago when Ohio was upset by Stanford and Duke. These writers say:

"Ohio is better balanced and despite the loss of Cassady, whom nobody can fully replace, the team appears to be stronger, deeper in good reserves, and sounder at quarterback where Frank Ellwood is the established leader now instead of a guy just earning that position like he was when Ohio played Illinois last year."

Don (The Spark) Clark is a sophomore who has moved into Cassady's running shoes. He has made 238 yards in 26 carries. Jim Roseboro at the other halfback and Ellwood at quarterback have carried the ball about as often and Ohio again is a rushing team that thus far hasn't even thrown a pass until it has scored at least three touchdowns.

Illinois, which yielded 20 points to California and 28 to Washington, certainly will yield some to Ohio. The hope in the Illinois camp is that the Illini can come up with enough scoring to win. It would be a real upset.

Willie Miller, Promoter Of Amateur Bouts, Dies

William E. (Willie) Miller, a wholesale paper company president who promoted amateur boxing bouts as a hobby, died yesterday of a heart ailment at Deaconess Hospital. He was 71 years old.

Miller was matchmaker for the South Broadway Athletic Club for 25 years and had acted as a judge for the annual Golden Gloves tournaments here. He headed the paper company for 40 years.

His wife, Lillian, and two sons, Forrest and William Jr., survive.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p.m. Tuesday at Kriegshauser's, 4228 South Kingshighway.

Midwest League Set Attendance Record

The Class D Midwest Baseball League set an attendance record of 453,688 for the 1956 season, President Clarence Hoffman announced.

For the second year, Dubuque, Iowa, was the top club in attendance with 92,364. The league has been in operation since 1947.

Other club attendance marks: Decatur, Ill., 64,263; Clinton, Iowa, 60,544; Paris, Ill., 60,350; Kokomo, Ind., 49,437; Michigan City, Ind., 48,765; Lafayette, Ind., 42,821; and Mattoon, Ill., 35,144.

—United Press Telephoto.

Miami's fullback, DON BOSSELER, found himself the lone project of a businesslike group of Maryland tacklers on this play in the game at Miami last night. Bosseler had the satisfaction of making a first down before he was halted though. No. 30 is BOB RUSEVLYAN of Maryand and No. 76 is Maryland's ED HUERING. Miami won, 13-6.

Kutis Eleven Plays Vikings After Winning Muny Opener

By Dent McSkimming

This is farewell night for four local soccer stars, who depart next Friday for Melbourne and the Olympic games. Herman Wecke, Harry Keough, Bill Looby and Ruben Mendoza will be in the lineup of the Kutis club when it faces the Vikings of Chicago, at Public Schools Stadium. Game time 8:30. There will be a preliminary attraction at 7 o'clock.

Any money raised above expenses at tonight's game will go to the United States Olympic Fund, it was announced by Tom Kutis, sponsor of the team which holds the national amateur championship.

It will be recalled that the Vikings in their most recent appearance here, two years ago, gave Kutis a terrific tussle. Not only were they a very dangerous scoring team (they counted four times) but their style of play was as entertaining as any seen here that season. With a new center forward, Bengt Vikstrom, and good reinforcement at other positions, the Vikings are rated somewhat better than the 1954 team.

Kutis has opened its season with three straight victories, two against out-of-town clubs. With the four Olympic players plus Elwood (Butch) Cook and Goalie Bob Burkard of the 1952 Olympic team, the squad is well prepared for this test against one of Chicago's better teams.

Kutis last night opened the Municipal League phase of its season by defeating the St. Louis Sports Club team, 3-0, under the lights at Carondelet Park. Bill Looby scored one first-half goal; Bob Rooney and Dick Meisemann scored in the second half.

At no stage of the game did St. Louis (formerly the Meramec club) look like a potential winner, but it defended well enough to make Kutis work hard for scores. Poor shooting robbed Kutis of more points and Goalie Henry Kuster turned away a few good tries. Elwood (Butch) Cook and Rooney were most successful in their ball handling efforts among the forwards. Generous use of substitutes gave all Kutis players a chance to get acquainted.

The second game of the evening program, watched by about 1000 persons, brought a victory by the Spanish Society team over Jadran, 7 to 0. Howard Lincks and Tony Arias each scored two goals. Bob Richars, Joe Perfetto and Ray Berschwig scored the others.

Probable Lineups

VIKINGS (Chicago)		KUTIS (St. Louis)
Eglund	Goal	Franks

Kansas Drubs Mizzou Cross-Country Team

COLUMBIA, Mo., Oct. 13 (AP)—Kansas swept the first seven places in winning a Big Seven Conference cross-country race over Missouri, 15 to 50. The low score wins.

Jan Howell took first place in 15:22.5, with Jerry McNeal second. Five Jayhawkers were under 16 minutes.

Rangers Triumph.

CHICAGO, Oct. 13 (UP)—Goalie Lorne Worsley turned in the first shutout of the National Hockey League season last night, kicking aside 32 shots by the Chicago Black Hawks to lead the New York Rangers to a 3-0 triumph. Andy Hebenton, Camille Henry and Larry Popein scored for the winners.

Hawks Begin Exhibition Slate

A squad of 12 St. Louis basketball professionals departed this morning with Coach Red Holzman for Hector, Minn., where the Hawks tonight are scheduled to open a 12-game N.B.A. exhibition schedule with Minneapolis and Fort Wayne.

Minneapolis is the St. Louis opponent tonight, as it will be in seven other exhibitions. Fort Wayne will be met four times before the league season opener at The Arena Oct. 27, when Minneapolis calls on "Ed Macauley night."

The Hawk squad is composed of Macauley, Charley Share, Bob Pettit, Jack Coleman, Willie Naulls, Jack McMahon, Med Park, Cliff Hagan, Irv Bemoras, Norm Stewart, Morris Taft and Dutch Schafer. The same dozen are likely to comprise the St. Louis squad for the start of league warfare.

Louisville Drops Two Opponents to Play in Bluegrass Festival

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 13 (UP—The University of Louisville has dropped two teams from the 1956 basketball schedule in order to play in the Bluegrass basketball festival at Kentucky's new 18,000-seat Fairgrounds Coliseum Dec. 28-29.

The Cardinals dropped home games with Wayne University of Detroit and Murray State Teachers College, Murray, Ky., in order to comply with the N.C.A.A. maximum of 26 games in one season.

The changes in the Louisville schedule may well cost the school several thousand dollars. Wayne University will be paid a $1000 guarantee and the four officials engaged to officiate the two contests will receive about $200.

In addition the university will have to make some settlement with the management of the Louisville armory, where the games were scheduled to be played.

Louisville has a contract binding it to make 12 home appearances in the Armory this year, while only 10 games are now scheduled there.

Nashua Favored to Close His Racing Career With Victory

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (INS)—Nashua, thoroughbred racing's all-time money winning champion, makes the final start of his brilliant career today in the thirty-eighth running of the $50,000 added Jockey Club Gold Cup at Belmont.

The syndicate-owned four-year-old colt, whose earnings of $1,251,965 topped his recent purchase price of $1,251,200, goes against a field of six in an attempt to make it two straight in the two-mile test which he won last year. Nashua is the odds-on-choice to win.

The opposition includes Mister Gus, Flying Fury, Honeys Alibi, Salmon, Riley and Third Brother.

Since his purchase by Leslie B. Combs and Co., the son of Nasrullah has earned $306,550 for his new owners, who plan to retire him to stud after today's outing.

Eddie Arcaro, who has handled Nashua in most of his 21 victories, will be in the saddle for his thirtieth and final start.

Sharing the card with the Gold Cup is the sixty-seventh running of the $50,000 added Futurity. If all 14 two-year-olds start, the race will be worth $125,345, with $91,645 going to the winner.

Topping the field will be favored Bold Ruler, with Arcaro up, and Nashville, a Ilangollen Farm stablemate of Mister Gus and a $65,000 purchase at Hialeah last winter. The distance is 6½ furlongs.

POST-DISPATCH Sports Edited by ROY STOCKTON

Casey Enjoys Job, Signs for 2 More Years

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (UP)—Casey Stengel, a millionaire who also is old enough to be collecting social security payments, began thinking about at least two more pennants for his world champion Yankees today, at a salary of $80,000 a year.

Stengel was rehired yesterday as Yankee manager under the two-year contract, even though he will be 68 at the completion of it and has all the money he ever will be able to spend.

"I don't see why I should think about quitting," he said. "I enjoy the job, my health is good, and my boys come through for me."

Casey, who again confounded the baseball world by coming from an 0-2 deficit in the World Series to win the classic with Brooklyn in seven games, was assured by General Manager George Weiss that he could put another strong-contending team on the field next season.

"We don't intend to stand still," said Weiss. "Brooklyn stood pat and had trouble winning the pennant this year. We hope to provide Stengel with a stronger club next year.

"Stengel's record speaks for itself. In eight years he has won seven pennants and six world championships."

Stengel's Record

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (AP)—Casey Stengel's managerial record with the New York Yankees:

CHICAGO, Oct. 13 (UP)—John Holland, new Chicago Cubs' executive who will act as general manager without the title, has returned to Los Angeles to wind up his affairs preparatory to starting the job of rebuilding the National League's eighth-place club. Holland was president of the Los Angeles club which won the Pacific Coast League pennant.

Bob Scheffing, new Cubs manager who piloted the Los Angeles team last year, went to St. Louis to visit his parents. He will go to Los Angeles before returning to Chicago. Charlie Grimm, another new vice president along with Holland, was going to St. Louis for a brief stay before moving back to Chicago.

Scheffing's first act as Cub manager was to request the resignations of Coaches Ray Blades, Pepper Martin and Dutch Leonard. He did not name his own coaches immediately.

Braves Get Joyner.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 13 (UP)—The Milwaukee Braves traded the contracts for players Toby Atwell, Phil Paine and Jack Hannah to the Wichita club for the contract of outfielder Everette Joyner. Joyner had been purchased by the Braves organization from Shreveport of the Texas League. He was the second leading hitter in the Texas League with a .347 average and led the league in hits with 200.

Calhoun Stops English Boxer In Eighth Round

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 13 (UP)—Fast rising young middleweight Rory Calhoun of White Plains, N.Y., earned a fistful of future bouts with an eighth round technical knockout of England's John L. Sullivan in a nationally televised fight in Cleveland Arena, last night.

Calhoun, favored 8-5 going into the bout, floored Sullivan with a right-left-right combination to close the seventh round, and Cleveland Referee Jackie Davis called off the aggressive battler only nine seconds into the eighth.

Managers of both fighters agreed earlier the winner would meet Joe Giardello of Philadelphia, here next month. But Calhoun's manager, Frank Bachman, said two other matches were possible.

"There's been some talk of a fight with Charlie Josephs in New Orleans and Tiger Jones in New York—also (Spider) Webb, anywhere but Chicago. Webb took a split decision from Calhoun—his only defeat—in the Windy City the last time out.

Calhoun, well satisfied with the victory, conceded the Englishman "hurt me a couple of times."

"That boy can punch," he said.

Davis said after the bout that Sullivan wore his trunks "too high" but took one point from Calhoun in the fourth and another in the seventh for punches he said "looked bad."

After trading punches in the first five rounds, the battlers brought 1962 fans to their feet in the climactic sixth in which Calhoun, weighing 160½, stalked and then chased Sullivan, dead tired, but eager at 162. The Englishman holed up in a neutral corner, his head muffled in gloves, while Calhoun landed at will. The armweary Calhoun could not drop Sullivan.

Miami Hurricanes Hand Maryland Third Defeat of Campaign

MIAMI, Oct. 13 (INS)—The Miami Hurricanes, true to their name, took to the air last night to defeat Maryland's Terps, 13 to 6, before 44,304 football fans in the Orange Bowl.

Miami, block on the ground by a big, tough Maryland line, won its third consecutive victory of the season, when Quarterbacks Sam Scarnecchia and Bonnie Yarbrough each completed a touchdown pass. It was Maryland's third defeat.

Scarnecchia threw a 23-yard pass to John Bookman for the first Miami touchdown in the second period and Yarbrough tossed six yards to Jack Johnson for the second TD in the third quarter.

Maryland escaped a shutout in the last period by going 80 yards in a rainstorm with Dick Porter scoring from a yard out.

Mizzou Out to Snap Six-Game Losing Streak

By Bob Broeg
Of the Post-Dispatch Staff.

COLUMBIA, Mo., Oct. 13—If the University of Missouri's football players can take a hint, things will begin to get fair and warmer for the Tigers today.

On the eve of the North Dakota State game, in which the Black and Gold is expected to snap a string of six consecutive defeats easily, Ralph (Skip) Schulz, senior center from Sedalia, used the printed word to fire up the Tigers for this one and the Big Seven Conference race that begins next week at Kansas State.

Schulz went from locker to locker in the varsity dressing room at Rothwell Gymnasium and crayoned a message for each player, regular and reserve. The phraseology varied from the sentimental to the salty, but the thought was basic:

"Get moving, gang, and we'll go to the Orange Bowl."

Don Faurot, veteran Mizzou coach, said the Tigers couldn't afford to look past North Dakota State, generally regarded as the first breather on the schedule since the state university played the Cape Girardeau Teachers 20 years ago in their opener. And Schulz didn't mean to exclude the Bisons from Fargo, N.D.

It was just that the 198-pound pivot man was trying to make sure his teammates caught the streetcar named desire — you can't go far without desire in football—for the trip to Orange Bowl, bait for the Big Seven runnerups, is an appealing goal this year.

An interesting sidelight to this afternoon's game will be the opportunity to see Ken (Stub) Clemensen, Nevada (Mo.) junior, in the new capacity as quarterback understudy to Jimmy Hunter.

With both Hunter and Dave Doane, seniors, Clemensen could be the No. 1 signal-caller next year—if he shows enough.

Army Flyweight Dies After Early Knockout

PUEBLO, Colo., Oct. 13 (AP)—Clinton Thompson, 24, 111-pound Fort Carson, Colo., Army boxer from Benton Harbor, Mich., died yesterday after being knocked out in an amateur bout Thursday night.

Oris Tenorio, 110, Walsenburg, Colo., kayoed Thompson at 1:18 of the second round. Dr. Frank E. Stander, physician assigned by the Colorado Athletic Commission, ordered Thompson to a hospital after efforts to revive him in a dressing room failed.

The knockout punch was a blow to the stomach, Referee Don Perko said Tenorio struck another blow as Thompson tumbled forward and gradually fell to the canvas.

Perko said Thompson did not strike his head on the floor. He was not wearing headgear.

Patty Berg Leads in Women's Golf Event

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Oct. 13 (AP)—Patty Berg of St. Andrews, Ill., took the lead in the $5000 Women's Arkansas Open Golf tournament by firing a blistering seven-under par 69 in the second round yesterday.

The Illinois pro played consistently and steadily with excellent putting and driving. Her score for the 36 holes stood at 72-69—141.

The 72-hole tournament will end Sunday.

Four strokes behind were Peggy Kirk of Southern Pines, N.C., with 75-70—145 and Mary Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Ga., with 73-72—145. Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Tex., who led the first-round with a 71, and Alice Bauer of Palos Park, Ill., each had 146.

$32,415 in Prizes.

NEW YORK (AP)—A total of $32,415 in prizes for 124 events and 23 championships will feature the sixty-eighth National Horse Show, Oct. 30-Nov. 6 at Madison Square Garden.

Crippled Bears Face Drake, Loser Four Straight Times

By Harold Tuthill
Of the Post-Dispatch Staff.

DES MOINES, Ia., Oct. 13—Washington University's Bears were at a disadvantage for tonight's meeting with Drake, the first school in the major-college category of opponents, by N.C.A.A. standards, on the Bears' 1956 schedule.

Carl Snavely, Washington coach, brought a crippled squad here to face a Bulldog team which had lost four straight and was sure to be "up" for a rival it had met on 28 previous occasions, starting in 1911 when the teams tied, 6-6. Drake has a distinct edge with 18 victories to eight for Washington. Two games ended in ties.

Because of fumbles in the Missouri Mines game, which the Bears won, 14-13, and because of injuries in the Wabash contest, which Washington lost, 27-7, the Bruins have not come up to Snavely's expectations.

46-7 Loss to Bowling Green.

Whether they rise to the occasion tonight depends upon their physical condition — and how well Drake plays. The Bulldogs last week gave Bowling Green a battle in the first half, when they trailed, 13-7, only to be swamped in the second half as the Ohioans romped to a 46-7 victory.

Coach Warren Gaer contemplated a couple of lineup changes to snap the Bulldogs' five-game losing streak, including a carryover of one from last year. Don Sanservino was expected to start at center and Warren Kinzel at left half.

Two of those certain to open were Roger LaBrasca, who ranks among the nation's leaders in two departments in this week's National Collegiate statistics—twelfth on total offense, 347 yards on 87 plays and sixteenth in passing, 19 completions out of 49 for 241 yards. Three of his passes have gone for touchdowns and only two have been intercepted.

39-19 Last Year.

Against Washington last year, when the Bulldogs won, 39-19, LaBrasca netted 55 yards on six carries and completed three passes for 40 yards on a touchdown. The big gun, then, however, was Ron Lind, who romped for 119 yards on 12 tries, scored two touchdowns and also returned two punts for a total of 54 yards. In the same game Kinzel carried the ball five times for 53 yards.

Kickoff for the Bears' only night appearance this season will be 9 o'clock, St. Louis time.

Gregory Cuts Course Mark in Cross-Country

Running Ron Gregory of Sumner High accomplished what would be a near-miracle for a high school runner if the listed distance were proven accurate as he led his team to first place in a 15-team cross-country race at the East Side's Grand Marais state park yesterday. Gregory covered what is said to be a two-mile course in 9 minutes 13 seconds—chopping almost 35 seconds off the previous record.

Some observers doubted that the course was actually two miles, but Gregory's achievement was still fantastic. His 9:13 replaces the record of 9:48.4 set by Jim Shepard of Pacific in 1953.

Sumner took the meet with 61 points. Vashon was second with 75, followed by Edwardsville, 93, and Granite City, 97.

Beaumont's Ron Schoen was the second best individual. His time was 9:51. Joe Schroeder, Granite City, was third.

The results:

TEAMS—Sumner, 61; Vashon, 75; Edwardsville 93; Granite City, 97; East St. Louis, 144; Beaumont, 163; O'Fallon, 165; St. Louis U. High, 229; Cahokia, 243; Belleville, 248; Dupo, 260; Troy, 230; Wood River, 350; Collinsville, 355.

INDIVIDUALS—1. Ron Gregory, Sumner; 2. Ron Schoen, Beaumont; 3. Joe Schroeder Granite City; 4. Gilbert Kidd, Washon; 5. Tom Halton, Sumner; 6 Rufus Washington, Sumner; 7. Robinson, Granite City; 8. David Adams, Vashon; 9. Harris Edwardsville; 10. Wayne Imes, Vashon.

Jefferson City Hands Columbia First Defeat

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 13—The Jefferson City Jays shook Fullback Mel West loose for two touchdown runs in the first half and then threw up a blanket-like defense to defeat the Columbia Kewpies, 13-6, last night.

West, a 165-pound senior, scampered 68 yards off tackle late in the first period for a touchdown and grabbed a lateral from Halfback Don Webb to complete a 69-yard punt return for a score in the second quarter.

Columbia was blanked until Halfback Dale Mills went four yards for a touchdown in the fourth quarter after a blocked punt.

The win was the fifth straight for the Jays and the first loss for Columbia in five starts.

Score by quarters:

Jays	—	—	—	7	6	0	0—13
Columbia	—	—	—	0	0	0	6—6

Culver-Stockton Routs Central College, 65-0

FAYETTE, Mo., Oct. 13 (AP)—Culver-Stockton ran over Central 65-0 yesterday in an MCAU football game, dominating play throughout.

John Sinekowski made three touchdowns; Larry Moore and Bill Morris two each; Dave Pilcher, Dave Brewer and Ed Cohn one each, and George Toneff kicked five extra points.

47 Officials for 128 French in Olympics

PARIS, Oct. 13 (AP)—The French Olympic Committee announced that it would send 128 athletes and 47 officials and assistants to the Olympic games in Melbourne.

Only a few members of the French Olympic team have been selected up to now. The track and field team will not be named until after the France-Italy meet Sunday.

Swimmers are training at Bordeaux and the final selections will depend on the performances shown there. The fencing team will have the biggest contingent with 18, while track and field and swimming will have 17 each.

Champion Providence Opens With Victory

PROVIDENCE, R.I., Oct. 13 (AP)—Red Johansen fired two goals as the defending-champion Providence Reds opened their American Hockey League campaign with a 5-1 victory last night over the Buffalo Bisons.

The Reds crowded their scoring into the first and third periods, slipping two shots past Harry Lumley in the first stanza and three in the finale.

Goalie Johnny Bower, league's most valuable player last year, had a shutout until rookie Skip Warchal beat him six minutes before the finish while the Reds were shorthanded.

Women Golfers In Semifinals Of T-M Event

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif., Oct. 13 (UP) — Two Texans and a pair of Californians battled their way into the semi-finals of the twenty-sixth annual trans-Mississippi Women's golf tournament here yesterday.

It will be red-haired Wiffi Smith of Orange, Tex., versus Barbara Romack of Sacramento, and defending champ Polly Riley of Fort Worth versus Mrs. James Ferrie of Gardena, Calif., over 18 holes today to determine the rivals in the 36-hole windup on Sunday.

Nineteen-year-old Wiffi was two over par for the 17 holes it took her to defeat Mrs. Staddon Loveys of Los Angeles 2 and 1.

Miss Romack, who has played the steadiest golf of the tournament so far, downed Mary Sargent of Pebble Beach, 6 and 4, with a two-over-par card for 14 holes.

Miss Riley disposed of Mrs. Ruth McCullah of Los Angeles by a 5 and 3 count today and Mrs. Ferrie won from Barbara Williams of Richmond, Calif., 1-up, when Miss Williams missed a three-foot putt on the final hole.

Fight Results.

Collinsville Stops Alton for 5th in Row

Kahoks Eye E. St. Louis With Hope

By John J. Archibald

Collinsville, one of several schools that is casting hungry eyes at long-time tormentor East St. Louis this season, polished off the preliminary portion of its schedule by winning its fifth straight game last night, 19 to 7, over Alton in a Southwestern Illinois Conference contest. Now Collinsville will have two weeks to get ready for its visit to East St. Louis.

Vergil Fletcher, who has coached Collinsville for 11 seasons, has never beaten East St. Louis. The Kahoks have come close, losing by a 21-18 score last year, for instance, but that's the most they can say. This year appears to be one in which the Kahoks might have reasonable hope of winning their first postwar league title for the Flyers haven't been as overpowering as usual.

Alton Leads at Half.

Alton went into last night's game with a 3 and 1 record, so Collinsville's victory was creditable. After the Kahoks had taken a 6-0 lead in the first quarter, Alton came back with a touchdown and an extra point to go in front, 7-6, at halftime. Two Collinsville touchdowns in the second half, one of them a virtual gift, kept the Kahok winning streak going.

In earlier games, Collinsville defeated Gillespie, Assumption, Granite City (league game), and Edwardsville. Belleville will be Collinsville's fourth Southwestern Conference opponent, being scheduled the weekend after East St. Louis. The Kahoks have no game next week.

Collinsville used a variety of ball carriers in defeating Alton. It was Harold Watkins and 214-pound Tom Jackson doing much of the running in the first half, with a 25-yard gain by Hankins setting up the touchdown which he scored from the three.

Fumble on One-Yard Line.

Quarterback Ernie Wilhoit and Halfback Bill Ellis did much of the ground-gaining in the second half, although it was Hankins who went 13 yards on a wide run into the end zone for Collinsville's second TD. The final Kahok touchdown came in the fourth quarter after Alton fumbled a punt and lost possession on its one-yard line. Jackson plunged through.

Alton relied heavily on passes, but made only 30 yards in 19 attempted aerials. Much of the fault seemed to be that of the receivers, rather than the passers.

One of Alton's few completed passes, 15 yards from Bob Davis to Dan Weeks, figured in the Redbirds' only successful offensive. Don Watkins pulled himself through a tangle of defense men for seven yards and the touchdown. Watkins then ran the extra point to give Alton its only lead of the evening, just before the half ended. Collinsville began a touchdown drive with the second-half kickoff, although it took the Kahoks 12 plays to get there.

Granite City and Pana elevens played to a 7-7 deadlock on the Pana field.

Mizzou Frosh and B Team Battle to Tie

COLUMBIA, Mo., Oct. 13—Missouri's B and Freshman teams battled to a scoreless tie here yesterday, with both teams muffing one good scoring opportunity.

The Frosh battled inside the 10-yard line on an 80-yard march in the second quarter, but surrendered the ball on downs. The B team got close enough for John Stout to try a 17-yard field goal try, but it went awry. The closest thing to a score was a 50-yard sprint by Don Mason, East St. Louis B team quarterback, that was called back for a penalty.

Gerard Secker, B team fullback from Hannibal, was the leading ground gainer, 66 yards in 10 carries, while Gary Starr, Belleville, Ill., frosh quarterback, passed his team with 36 yards in nine trys.

Philip Scott Winner.

Torrid, driven by John Simpson, was third and Adios Harry, the 3-to-5 public choice, last in the six-horse field.

The winner paced the mile in 2:01 4-5 and paid $23.50, $8.30 and $5.20 across the board.

Walter Dukes Again Suspended by Knicks

Dukes, who had an unimpressive campaign last season, at first did not want to take a cut in salary, the Knickerbockers said. They said he finally agreed to terms but fell far behind the rest of the squad in training and conditioning before signing.

The club probably will sell or trade him to another N.B.A. club but a team spokesman said, "right now, we don't know just what is going to happen to him."

Dukes, who was the club's No. 1 draft choice when he came out of Seton Hall in 1953, was fined $200 and suspended a day for missing a trip with the team last season. He suffered a knee injury before the 1955-56 season opened and averaged only eight points per start in 58 games.

Harrison 142, Furgol 144 in Western Open

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 13 (AP)—Sharpshooting young Texas Pro, Don January, held the lead of the Western open golf tournament today with 138 on a pair of three-under-par 69s.

The Lampasas Kid, who turned pro only last year and has captured only one major tournament, was one stroke ahead of long-hitting Mike Souchak, Grossinger's, N.Y., veteran, who put together 70-69 for a two-round total of 139.

E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of St. Louis, scored his second 71 for an aggregate of 142, while Ed Furgol of St. Louis, former United States open champion, added 70 to his first round 74 for an aggregate of 144.

First round leaders fell back slightly, pro Bill Casper of Chula Vista, Calif., adding a par 72 to the fine 68 he had Thursday, and amateur Johnny McMullin of Alameda, skidding to 74. That, with his first round 68, left him four strokes off the pace at 142.

The big field was cut to 55 pros and eight amateurs today, with scores of 150 or better needed to advance into the third round.

Defending champion Cary Middlecoff encountered tree trouble, losing a ball and carding 73 for a two-day total of 143. It was a tee shot on the eighth that ruined his second round score. The ball was last seen heading toward trees and nobody could find it.

Olympic Track Stars Compete In Meet Today

BERKELEY, Oct. 13 (UP)—Track fans, used to taking their favorite sport in large doses only in the spring, had a rare autumn treat today—a cinder fest involving the entire United States Olympic squad in all-out competition.

The United States squad, rated the best Olympic representative of all time and striking for a smashing victory this November in Melbourne, opened concentrated training in an invitational meet sponsored by the San Francisco Chronicle at California's Edwards Stadium. Proceeds, and a near capacity crowd of 20,000 is expected, go to the United States Olympic fund.

This best-ever track team began assembling earlier this week with each new arrival receiving the admonition from Coach Jim Kelly of Minnesota, that they must report for this off-season meet in June condition or face the possibility of being bumped from the Melbourne plane by an alternate.

To heighten the competition, for sure, was the presence of the alternates, who will be out to displace their "betters" as well as an invited field of Olympic trial also-rans—many of whom have better marks than the team members.

Each event will have six or more contestants.

Andy Seminick Named Phillie Coach; Pillette Sold to San Francisco

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 13 (UP)—Catcher Andy Seminick of the Philadelphia Phillies retired as an active player yesterday and was named to the club's coaching staff for the 1957 season.

The 36-year-old backstop from Elizabethton, Tenn., spent 11 of his 14 major league seasons with the Phils and was known as the "take charge guy" in the tough 1950 National League pennant race that saw the Phils win their first flag in 35 years. He played the last week of that season with pain-killing injections in a severely injured ankle.

Seminick, who was presented a new automobile and other gifts on a night in his honor last month, hit eight grand slam home runs in his major league career, five of them with the Phils and three with the Cincinnati Redlegs.

General Manager Roy Hamey, who announced Seminick's retirement, also disclosed that Pitcher Duane Pillette has been sold outright to San Francisco of the Pacific Coast League. He appeared in 20 games last season and was involved in no decisions.

American Heads Cambridge Boat Club

CAMBRIDGE, England, Oct. 13 (AP)—Philip Mason Du Bois, 26, an American, has been elected president of the Cambridge University boat club—the first American ever chosen for the post. Du Bois, a New Yorker, is a former Harvard oarsman.

His father is a New York doctor and the new boat club president is in his final year at Cambridge, where he has been a research student.

He rowed No. 2 for Cambridge in 1955, when the Light Blues won by 15 lengths from Oxford, but he did not row this year because of the pressure of his studies.

Duke Officials Watch For 'Stolen Tickets'

DURHAM, N.C., Oct. 13 (AP)—Duke University athletic director E. M. Cameron said that "stolen tickets" probably would be on sale for the Duke-Southern Methodist football game today and that persons attempting to use such tickes would be denied admission to the stadium.

Cameron said the tickets were stolen from a printing firm and that duplicates have been issued. The stolen ducats can be identified, he added.

Kid Gavilan Boxes Tony De Marco Tonight

BOSTON, Oct. 13 (UP)—Manager Yamil Chade clicked off three melodic "hokays" and said Kid Gavilan "never looked better" for his 10-round fight tonight against Boston's Tony De Marco at the Garden.

The battle of the two former welterweights, which was to be neither broadcast nor televised, was touted as a stepping stone to a title crack.

Flower Bowl Wins $58,200 Ladies Stake

110-Pound Catfish Reported Largest Catch in Illinois

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 13 (UP).

THE State Conservation Department has listed a 110-pound flathead catfish as the largest fish reported caught in Illinois waters. Any challengers?

The department is trying to compile a list of record catches in the state.

Its monthly magazine, "Outdoors in Illinois," which published the first list this month, said the big catfish was caught by an unknown fisherman at Alton, in 1947.

Other whoppers for which proof of catch has been submitted to the magazine include a 48-pound buffalo caught at Quincy in 1936 and a 65-pound blue cat taken at Alton this year.

The record large mouth bass reported so far was a 10½-pounder taken at Harrisburg in 1952.

Beaumont Beats Vashon for Its First Victory

Beaumont High, apparently having righted itself after two losses and a tie in its first three games, scored a decisive victory over Vashon yesterday, 21 to 6, in a Public High League game at Public Schools Stadium. It was both schools' first league game.

There will be a Public High League double header at the stadium this afternoon. Soldan will meet Sumner at 1 o'clock, followed by Hadley vs. Roosevelt.

Vashon, which had tied St. Louis U. High and defeated Lincoln in earlier starts, didn't score until Beaumont had a 21-0 lead in the final quarter.

The first touchdown for Beaumont came in the second quarter when Bill Foster climaxed an 80-yard drive by sweeping 28 yards around end to score. Fullback Bert Barth kicked the first of his three extra points to make it 7-0 at the half.

In the third quarter, Vashon Quarterback Robert Harrison went back into the end zone to punt. The ball went straight into the air, however, and Beaumont Guard Ed Breville fell on it for a touchdown. The Blue Jackets scored in the fourth quarter by powering 82 yards, with Foster and Barth alternating most of the time. Barth went the last 20 yards.

Vashon returned the following kickoff to its 30 and a pass play quickly put the Wolverines on Beaumont's 40. Norris Stevenson then raced around left end and went all the way for a touchdown.

Greenberg in No Rush To Name Pilot; 'Don't Need One 'Til March'

CLEVELAND, Oct. 13 (UP)—General Manager Hank Greenberg said he was in no rush to hire a new field manager of the Cleveland Indians, even though Leo Durocher might be willing to take the job.

"We've got a good job open in Cleveland and there'll be plenty of takers," Greenberg said. "I don't need a manager until March 1 and that gives me plenty of time to look."

Durocher, former New York Giant manager before becoming a television executive, recently was quoted as telling a Cleveland baseball writer he might take the job "if the price is right."

"After all," Durocher was quoted as saying, "I've been traveling with that Cleveland team for a long while. I know something about it."

When Greenberg was apprised of Durocher's comments, he still insisted there was "no rush."

"Right now, I'm working on our minor league players, assigning them to clubs for the player draft, and I honestly haven't had much time for anything else."

Two Military Men On Pentathlon Team

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Oct. 13 (UP)—A Naval officer, an Army enlisted man and a civilian won berths on the United States Olympics team as modern pentathlon competitors.

Winners at the end of weeklong trials at Fort Sam Houston here were Specialist 3-C Robert K. Miller of Seattle, Wash.; Lt. (j.g.) William Andre of Montclair, N.J., and George Lambert of New City, Ia., representing the New York Athletic Association.

Aspirants for the three places competed yesterday in cross-country hoserback riding. Andre came in first with 1173 points. Earlier the group took part in fencing, swimming, cross-country running and marksmanship events.

Miss Gibson, Stewart Defeated in Final

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 13 (UP)—Chilean Luis Ayala, teamed with Yala Ramirez of Mexico, won the mixed doubles championship in the fifteenth annual Pan American tennis tournament. They defeated Althea Gibson, Tallahassee, Fla., and Hugh Stewart, Los Angeles, in straight sets, 6-3, 6-4.

It was Miss Gibson's first loss in the tourney, coming a couple of hours after she and her partner, Darlene Hard, Montebello, Calif., had downed Aurora Medellin and Ester Reyes, both of Mexico, 6-3, 6-4 in the women's doubles semi-finals.

Hank Bassen to Calgary.

CALGARY, Oct. 13 (AP)—Hank Bassen, former goalie for the Chicago Blackhawks of the National Hockey League and Buffalo Bisons of the American League, will play this season for the Calgary Stampeders of the Western League.

TEXT OF SAN DIEGO ADDRESS GIVEN BY STEVENSON

He said, from 1952 on, that revision of immigration laws was a "must." But there was no action in this direction from the White House until another election year came around.

We have read eloquent presidential messages speaking our common conviction that it is America's "moral obligation" to provide decent housing to clean up the slums. But precious little has been done in this direction.

Most Americans, I know, are concerned and deeply concerned about mankind's need to tame the hydrogen bomb. Yet only yesterday the President said he had uttered his "last word" on this subject.

No 'Last Word' on H-Bomb.

I say that there can be no "last word" on this fateful subject until mankind is freed of the menace of incineration. And I shall have something more to say about the obligations of leadership to the human race as well as the nation next Monday night.

We all know that there is something wrong, that something has gone out of American life—something that used to be there; something that gave people's lives meaning and dignity. We are missing that intensity of conviction that moral passion which we desperately need if we are to rise to the challenge of our opportunities and the demands of our necessities in this revolutionary epoch.

The housewife knows that prices are at an all-time high.

The union man knows that in spite of all the 1952 promise the labor relations law is still as Taft and Hartley wrote it.

The 30,000,000 Americans who live in families with incomes under $2000 a year are not so impressed with the prosperity refrain.

Lost Ground on Moral Front.

And in our dealings with the rest of the world we have, in these four years, lost precious ground on the military, the economic, and most of all the political and moral fronts. Instead of bold, creative, magnanimous understanding leadership, our allies and the uncommitted masses of peoples newly free have found a new America of bluffs and boasts and threats, of advances and retreats, an America more reliant on military pacts than on the economic reliance and the self-reliance of the great regions of the world who want progress more than they hate Communism.

The American presidency is the greatest temporal office on earth. Its capacity for good or evil is almost beyond measure. When the President speaks, the world pays heed; when the President is silent, millions despair.

In the days of the youth of our republic, great Presidents taught us what the presidency can really be. Thomas Jefferson made the Louisiana purchase; James Monroe gave us the Monroe Doctrine. And in they ears of our own lives Woodrow Wilson conceived the League of Nations, Franklin Roosevelt led this nation from depression to victory against the mortal challenge of totalitarianism; Harry Truman led America to her rightful place at the head of the free world.

The need is as great today, the need for leadership and new ideas.

And I say it's time we get up and get started again.

It is time to return again to an ideal of national leadership that will recall our nation to its instinct for greatness—a leadership that acts, and that in acting gives people the chance, yes, and the faith, to act for themselves.

I believe, and that is why I stand before you here tonight, that the Democratic party can provide this leadership.

Program of Action.

We have a program—an action program—for education, and we will do our level best to carry it out.

We have a program for health security, and we will do our level best to carry that out.

We have a program for our older citizens, and we will do our level best to carry that out.

We have programs for our cities and for our suburbs, for our farmers and small business men—and for a new faith in liberty and the bill of rights.

America is a land of abundance. We want to use it—to enrich all our lives.

We want to work for an America where no man fears to think what he pleases and say what he thinks and where everyone can make his way in life, without regard to the color of his skin.

And we want to work—and work hard—to secure that peace in the world which is man's oldest dream.

These are the purposes that inspire the Democratic party. They are the faith which is our title to the trust we seek from the nation.

MARINE N.C.O. CONVICTED OF ASSAULTING RECRUIT

PARRIS ISLAND, S.C., Oct. 13 (AP)—A special court-martial yesterday convicted Marine Cpl. Richard J. Bille of simple assault against a recruit, Pvt. Donald Hamisfar of Norwalk, O., who claimed he was slugged in the stomach for failing to say "sir."

Bille, of Erie, Pa., was sentenced to two months imprisonment at hard labor, forfeiture of $65 of his pay for two months, and reduced to the rank of private first class. As a corporal he draws $117 a month base pay.

He was found not guilty of a charge of maltreatment of a person subject to his orders.

NIXON, KEFAUVER PICK VOTES AT CORN PICKING

ers; increased budget for a whole new array of conservation activities; a rural development program that will aid farm families on the lowest rungs of the economic ladder; expanded research to develop new crops, new uses, new markets and an augmented rural relectrification program that will meet with record speed the growing requirements for power and telephones in farming areas.

Kefauver Hoarse.

Senator Kefauver, suffering from hoarseness that was a result of a combination of overexercise of his vocal chords and Nebraska dust, cut his afternoon talk short but said:

"I am glad that you had a chance today to see and hear Vice President Nixon. He might be President one of these days if the Republicans stay in power.

"He is not a friend of the American farmer. As a member of the House of Representatives and the Senate, he voted again and again to cripple soil conservation and the Rural Electrification Administration.

"Vice Presidents have a vote in the Senate only when there is a tie. During his tenure he has voted to break ties on two occasions. On one of them he voted against 90 per cent of parity for wheat farmers."

Refers to Nixon Statement.

Kefauver referred to Nixon's frank statement recently at St. Petersburg, Fla., that Government funds provided for the purpose of supporting commodity prices would be used to keep hog prices at about the level at that time ($17 per hundredweight) in the pre-election period.

"I am glad," Kefauver went on, "even if it is for political reasons, that the Eisenhower Administration has opened up a little this fall. It will be a help to keep hog and egg prices up for a while even if the efforts stops on Nov. 7. And I predict it will if the Republicans are re-elected.

"Yet I know that you are asking yourselves whether President Eisenhower and Ezra Taft Benson (Secretary of Agriculture) and Richard Nixon will be loving you in December the way they say they love you four weeks before the election."

In spite of the drouth and low farm prices, Democrats have little hope of winning Nebraska's six electoral votes. Traditionally Republican, Nebraska gave Gen. Eisenhower a 421,603 to 188,057 vote over Adlai Stevenson in 1952. Franklin Roosevelt was favored against Alf Landon in 1936 and that was the last time the state went Democratic.

State Races.

Gov. Victor E. Anderson a Republican is expected to be re-elected for a second two-year term. There is no senatorial election in Nebraska this year and it is expected that at least four of the five Republican seats in the House will be retained. Representative Jackson B. Chase of the Second District (Omaha) was the only one to encounter difficulty in 1954. He received 52.9 per cent of the votes cast in his district.

Minnesota with 11 electoral votes voted 763,211 to 608,458 for Gen. Eisenhower in 1952, the first time it went Republican since 1928 when it favored Herbert Hoover over Al Smith. Democrats expect to win it this year and there has been little Republican opposition. There is no Senate seat to be filled and Gov. Orville L. Freeman, Democrat, is expected to be given a second two-year term as is customary in Minnesota. The Minnesota House delegation now includes five Democrats and four Republicans.

STEVENSON SAYS EISENHOWER HAS FAILED AS LEADER

Eisenhower, has "lost previous ground on the military, the economic and most of all the political and moral fronts."

"The American presidency is the greatest temporal office on earth," he said. "Its capacity for good or evil is almost beyond measure. When the President speaks, the world pays heed. When the President is silent, millions despair."

Joined by 5 Orators.

Stevenson was joined in California yesterday by five young Democratic orators — Govs. George M. Leader of Pennsylvania, Frank G. Clement of Tennessee and Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey, and Senators Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota and Albert M. Gore of Tennessee.

They went by light plane to areas around those in which Stevenson appeared. They spoke to rallies in a dozen towns—mostly to disappointingly small crowds amid some confusion over their scheduling—while Stevenson addressed rallies at Fresno, Long Beach and San Diego.

Stevenson's strategy is based on the premise that the Democratic party is more popular among voters than the Republican and that Mr. Eisenhower is more popular than his party is. His aim has been to identify Mr. Eisenhower with the G.O.P. and to identify himself with the Democrats. In plugging away at the H-bomb test bar proposal, Stevenson's aids said, his goal has been one of education. Advisers have been urging Stevenson to go to the people with the story of the danger of fallout from H-bomb tests—in terms of what it can do to children not yet born.

Information on this genetics effect of H-bomb fallout is available to Democrats as well as Republicans on the congressional Atomic Energy Committee.

Stevenson 'Very Pleased' With Prospects in Far West.

CHICAGO, Oct. 13 (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson came home today from an intensive Far West campaign feeling "very pleased" over his prospects for carrying the five states he visited.

At Chicago's Midwest Airport Stevenson told reporters he would devote a nation-wide television talk Monday night to his differences with President Eisenhower over hydrogen bomb tests.

He was asked for comment on a speech last night by Dr. Laurence H. Snyder, dean of Oklahoma University's graduate school and president-elect of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, who told an atomic radiation meeting that nuclear tests might lead to atomic war and "universal death."

Stevenson said: "It is consistent with the information I have had for many, many months and seems to confirm what I have said about the hazards of continuing these tests."

Stevenson left for his Libertyville farm, where he said he expected to "pick out some sheep to sell," and rest up for his next campaign trip. It starts next Tuesday and will take him by whistle - stopping train through Michigan and northern Ohio, and by airplane to Kentucky and Indiana, winding up at South Bend next Saturday at the Notre Dame-Michigan State football game.

N. O. NELSON CO. LOAN PAYMENTS BLOCKED

Referee Orders No More Payments on $3,600,000 Obligation.

Elliot H. Stein, temporary receiver of N. O. Nelson Co., was directed to make no further payments on a $3,600,000 loan from a Chicago firm in an order issued yesterday by Referee in Bankruptcy William O'Herin.

In granting a petition by Stein to allow use of the firm's accounts receivable for operating expenses, Referee O'Herin noted that otherwise the Nelson firm "will be forced to discontinue business."

Yesterday's order also enjoined Walter E. Heller Co. of Chicago from attempting to collect on the outstanding balance of the loan under a "purported lien" on Nelson's accounts receivable. Stein's petition alleged that collections from accounts receivable were going to the Heller firm as payments on the loan.

Keith Munroe, who was removed as president, testified he had warned that the Nelson firm "could not exist" under the burden of the loan and its interest rate of 12 per cent. His warning was given to Bellanca Corp. shortly after it acquired control of Nelson last August, he said.

Munroe testified that to secure the loan from Heller which now has been reduced to $1,300,000, liens and mortgages were placed against Nelson assets valued at $5,441,000.

The former company official related that a dividend of $3 per share of common stock, declared by the Nelson board of directors last spring, never was paid to stockholders. Testimony in previous phases of the firm's tangled affairs has brought out that $3,400,000 of the dividend was credited to Bellanca, which owned 97.8 per cent of Nelson common stock, to offset most of the loan Bellanca had obtained.

In arguing in support of his petition to allow the Nelson firm to use accounts receivable collections for current operating expenses, James Meredith, attorney for Stein, said: "Unless we receive money immediately, we'll have to close the doors of the Nelson company."

Other petitions seeking to determine the validity of encumbrances on Nelson assets, to dismiss bankruptcy proceedings and to investigate the complex financial transactions are pending.

ST. LOUIS BLUE SHIELD DENIES ENCOURAGING FEE SPLITTING

The St. Louis Blue Shield Plan opposes any practices by prepaid protection plans that encourage fee-splitting, Dr. Carl F. Vohs, president of the organization, announced yesterday.

A charge that unethical fee-splitting is being encouraged by a recent trend in Blue Shield surgical insurance plans was made this week by Dr. Paul R. Hawley, director of the American College of Surgeons.

In a telegram to Dr. Hawley, Dr. Vohs said that the St. Louis Blue Shield Plan makes no provision to pay anyone but the surgeon who actually performs an operation. The plan does not provide for any division of surgical fees, nor does it pay fees for assistants in surgery, he stated, adding that a physician is required to certify that he personally performed the services for which he is to be paid by Blue Shield.

Masterpiece For Museum Show

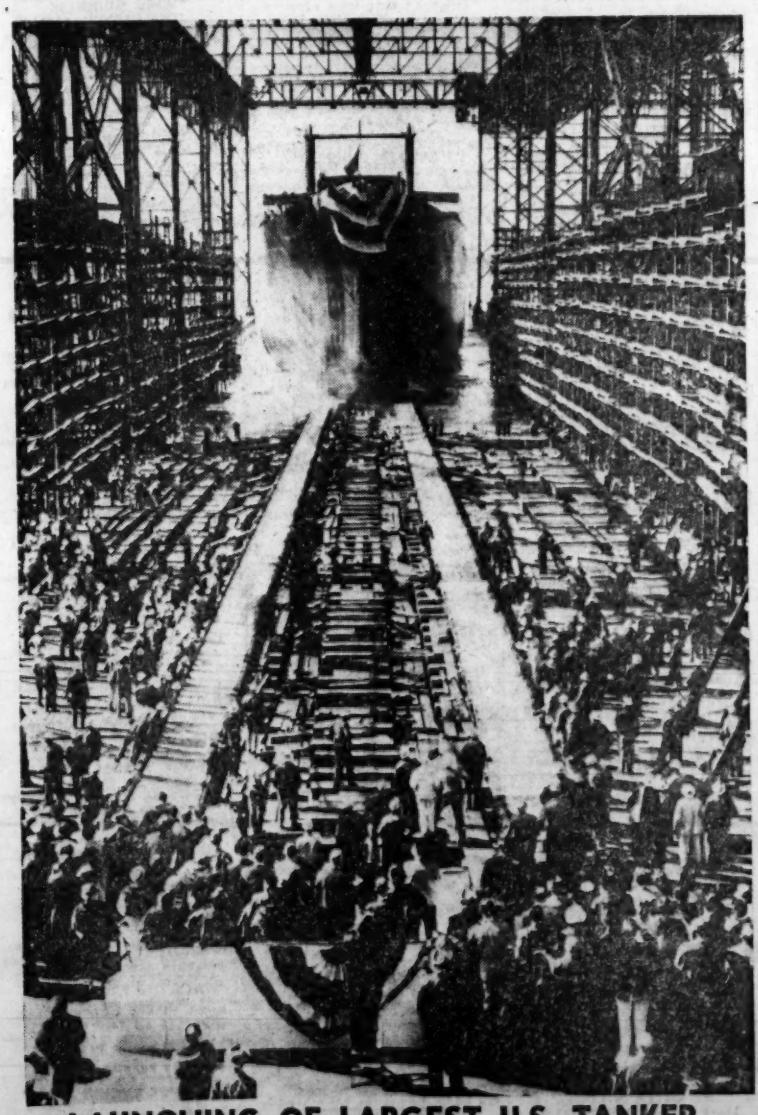
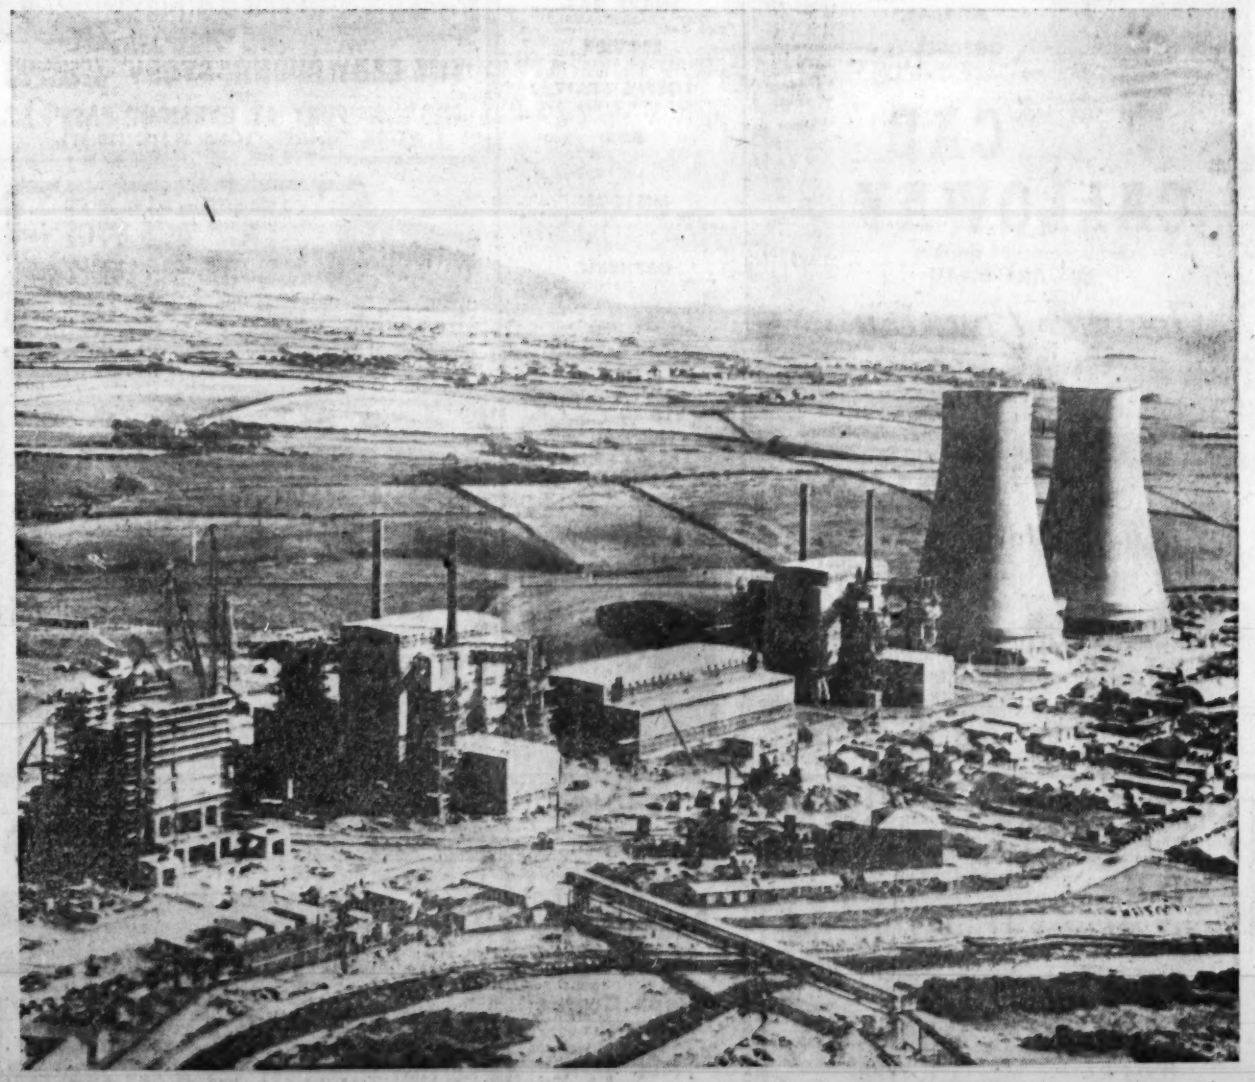
PRESS CONFERENCE BANTER

Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson has hand over mouth after one of the amiable exchanges that marked his press conference in Washington yesterday. It was his first meeting with reporters since his recent illness and, in serious vein, he assailed as "irresponsible" Democratic campaign talk of ending the draft and halting hydrogen bomb tests. —Associated Press Wirephoto.



LAUNCHING OF LARGEST U.S. TANKER

The Esso Gettysburg, largest tanker to fly the American flag, slides down the ways after christening ceremony at Newport News, Va., yesterday. The 715-foot vessel has a deadweight tonnage of 37,800 tons and with a speed of 18.3 knots is the fastest supertanker afloat. —Associated Press Wirephoto.



BRITAIN'S ATOMIC POWER PLANT

Aerial view of Calder Hall, Britain's pioneer atomic power plant which is scheduled to be formally opened by Queen Elizabeth next Wednesday. The installation, in a lonely coastal area in northwest England, is the world's first full-scale plant generating electric power from atomic energy. Britain expects to have three such atomic plants supplying electricity to homes and factories by 1960. —Associated Press Wirephoto.

THREE MEN STOP AUTO, STEAL BAR OWNER'S $6800

Masked Robbers Trap Lawrence C. Christopher on Way From Bank With Money.

Three men wearing masks robbed Lawrence C. Christopher, proprietor of Larry's Office Bar at 5300 Natural Bridge avenue, of $6800 yesterday as he was driving back to the tavern from a bank, police reported. One of the men displayed a revolver.

The robbers blocked Palm street with an automobile parked sideways, and Christopher could not get by as he drove west, he said, Palm is a one-way street at that point.

The scene of the robbery was near Geraldine avenue.

One man was in the parked car, and as Christopher stopped his machine the other robbers came running toward him from opposite sides of the street.

Christopher said the man showing the revolver told him: "Get in the back seat and lie down or I'll blow your brains out." Christopher said he complied, and that the man then grabbed a bag containing the money, which he had had on the front seat of the car.

The robbery victim said he had been to the Mound City Trust Co., 4401 Natural Bridge, to get money for check-cashing purposes over the weekend. The bar is near the Chevrolet and Fisher Body plants, and many men who work there ask Christopher to cash checks for them.

Because of a typographical error in yesterday's late edition of the Post-Dispatch, it was stated that the money was for "check-raising" purposes.

The automobile used in the holdup was found abandoned a short distance away, in the 3300 block of Union boulevard. The license plate on it had been stolen.

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 13 (AP) —James Edward Hanis, a former assistant buyer at the Westinghouse jet engine plant here, was sentenced to a year and a day in prison and fined $5000 yesterday in connection with charges of fraud against the Government.

He was one of five men sentenced in the case, involving contracts at the plant. The others, all of whom received fines, were:

Joseph T. Sommers, Los Angeles, a former buyer at Westinghouse, $2500; Frank A. Nelson, Kansas City, $1500; Jesse W. Berry, Kansas City, $1500, and Robert Ward Graddy, Tulsa, Okla., $500.

Graddy was the only one to plead guilty. The four others were convicted of conspiracy to defraud the Government. The Government charged the men were involved in a kickback conspiracy involving more than $1,000,000 in contracts. United States Judge Richard M. Duncan said the men "involved in this proceeding simply represent a scratching of the surface." One witness testified "the gravy train was rolling and he was going to get on."

The Court also criticized Westinghouse.

"One would think," he said, "a great organization like Westinghouse would have its business operating in such a manner as to eliminate any activity such as this."

BLAIR AFRAID TO SPEAK OUT, HOCKER MANAGER CHARGES

James T. Blair Jr., Democratic candidate for Governor, was accused of being "afraid to speak out for himself" in a statement issued yesterday by Mortimer A. Rosecan, campaign manager for Lon Hocker, the Republican candidate.

Rosecan referred to an earlier statement by Wilbur F. Daniels, Democratic state chairman, charging Hocker with indulging in "half-truths." Rosecan challenged Blair to come out of his "bottleneck of silence" and say whether he had, as Lieutenant Governor, brought pressure on the State Highway Patrol on behalf of a private client.

Daniels's statement "seems to resent" that Hocker was supported by the St. Louis Globe-Democrat and implied that the newspaper backed Hocker because he once represented it as a lawyer, Rosecan said. Rosecan said Hocker had resigned all business connections before filing for Governor last March.

BEATS WOMAN, STEALS $48

Mrs. Mary Damrell, 5651 Cates avenue, was knocked down early today in front of her home by a man who fled with her purse containing $48.

Mrs. Damrell, manager of a hat shop, lost two teeth and suffered a cut lip. She is 50 years old.

PRESIDENT TO GIVE SPEECH OCT. 25 IN NEW YORK CITY

The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13—President Eisenhower will make a major political speech in Madison Square Garden, in New York, on Thursday night, Oct. 25, the White House announced yesterday.

The fact that the President would speak in New York had been disclosed last week, but this was the first definite word on the date. The speech will be broadcast nationally over NBC television and radio networks.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, also made public some further details on the President's campaign schedule. Next Friday on his way back to the capital from his flying tour of Washington and Oregon Mr. Eisenhower will land in Denver for 30 minutes and make a speech at Stapleton airport there. It will be the President's first visit to Denver since he departed last Nov. 11 to convalesce from his heart attack.

Hagerty said that later the President may campaign in California and that he is considering making another speech in Pennsylvania, probably in Philadelphia. He has already spoken twice in that politically crucial state—on Sept. 12 at his Gettysburg farm and last Tuesday in Pittsburgh.

Oliver Hardy Out of Hospital.

BURBANK, Calif., Oct. 13 (AP)—Comedian Oliver Hardy, who suffered a stroke Sept. 14, went home from St. Joseph Hospital yesterday.

Martha Carr's OPINION

Dear Martha:

I LIKE a certain boy very much. I've seen him only twice. The only thing wrong is that he lives far away. He doesn't know I like him. How can I let him know this without being too fresh? Please don't say to forget him because I really like him very much. I am 13 and he is 15. Sometimes he acts shy. Is it because he likes me a bit?

JOSIE.

Could be. But it's hard to tell from here. Frankly, it doesn't seem very practical to like someone you can't see often. So, although I won't tell you to forget him, the question is how can you make any headway. Can you invite him over to your home? A party for some of the crowd would be an excuse.

Dear Martha:

I HAVE A BOY FRIEND who is nice but who has a habit of making up stories. People are beginning to dislike him because of this. I am his best friend and I want to tell him without hurting his feelings.

H. C.

If he is actually getting a bad reputation for untruthfulness, then it's time someone tried to open his eyes to what he is doing to himself. Tell him frankly that he should overcome this fault. You don't have to assume a holier-than-thou attitude but as his good friend you can discuss it with him.

Dear Martha:

I LIKE A BOY VERY MUCH but he doesn't know that. How can I let him know without being fresh or being embarrassed by his friends or brothers? Would it be all right to invite him to a Halloween dance? I'm almost 13.

JOSIE.

There are several "ifs" involved here, Josie. If your parents approve of your dating this boy, if girls are inviting boys to the dance, and if he isn't going steady, then I see no reason not to ask him. These days, a girl doesn't have to wait until a boy dates her before she can ask him to a specific event. But if he turns you down this time, better not ask again until he issues an invitation of his own.

Send today for Martha Carr's free leaflets of old-fashioned picnic games and scavenger hunts. Please inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request.

At the Movies

By Myles Standish

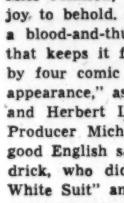
Fun With Guinness

ALEC GUINNESS takes another delightful excursion in satirizing the crime melodrama in "THE LADY-KILLERS," at the SHADY OAK THEATER. As he did in the memorable "The Lavender Hill Mob," Alec plans the fabulous perfect crime. He is Prof. Marcus, mastermind of a gang, a man with a ghoulish face, eccentric dress and sickly smile who directs his mob in the holdup of an armored car, using a sweet old lady as cover by renting a room for her for planning the crime, and making her the patsy for getting the loot out of the danger zone in a trunk. But he and his thugs more than meet their match in 77-year-old Katie Johnson, who commits some larceny of her own by stealing the picture as the gently daft but mettlesome old girl, not only resisting all attempts to put her out of the way, but living to see all of them meet their ends in the most hilarious murders since "Kind Hearts and Coronets."

William Rose, the writer of "Genevieve" and "High and Dry," concocted this bizarre conflict and its clever twists, and it's fun all the way to the slyly ironic ending. Miss Johnson, as the fearless rock of respectability, is a joy to behold. Guinness works his unctuous caricature of a blood-and-thunder master criminal with a dry subtlety that keeps it fairly close to realism, and is ably abetted by four comic villains, listed "in the order of their disappearance," as Cecil Parker, Peters Sellers, Danny Green and Herbert Lom. This is another comedy triumph for Producer Michael Balcon, who has done so many of the good English satires, and for Director Alexander MacKendrick, who did "Tight Little Island," "The Man in the White Suit" and "High and Dry."

What Drammer!

"THE QUEEN OF BABYLON," at the PAGEANT and RICHMOND is also funny at times, without meaning to be. An Italian Technicolor production with the Hollywood stars, Rhonda Fleming and Ricardo Montalban, and dubbed-in English dialogue of the "unhand me, you beast," and "I will never tell you, no, not if you kill me" kind, it is sort of overripe early C. B. DeMille.



It is laid in ancient Babylon, with Ricardo a fiery Chaldean rebel against the tyrant, and a man able to pluck an arrow right from his heart and stab one of the king's minions with it. Rhonda, who is never overburdened with clothes, is first discovered lying back on a rock in a dancing stream, with a knee poised prettily in the air. She bathes coyly in the nude under a waterfall, registers glowing love, horror and defiance in three patented expressions, fights off the brutish advances of the king's soldiers when she's hiding the wounded Ricardo, but finally has to give i to the lecherous monarch to save her lover. She does that giving-in bit in no picayunish way either, doing a dance mid a Babylonian orgy (right out of DeMille) in a costume that would have had a hard time getting by in the old Earl Carroll's Vanities. There must have been some moments in the Italian print too warm for the Hollywood production code, because there are several sudden cuts just when things are getting interesting.

Social Problems

By Emily Post

"WE sent flowers to the funeral of the mother of a friend of ours, but nothing ever has been said to us about them. I have seen this friend several times, but she said nothing and no written acknowledgment has been made. I do happen to know that others have received notes of thanks. I am wondering if they ever received our flowers or whether the card was lost. What can I do about it?"

Ask your friend exactly that question—"I know you have sent letters of thanks to other people, and not having heard from you, I am wondering if the flowers that we sent you were lost."

DEAR MRS. POST: When eating in a public restaurant and the waiter holds the chair for you, should this courtesy be acknowledged with "thank you," or is it taken for granted?

ANSWER: It is taken for granted.

Appetizing

Man-Sized Cookies

By Edith M. Barber

AN AMPLE SUPPLY OF MAN- AND BOY-SIZED COOKIES—LIKE THESE SPICED CHOCOLATE AND OATMEAL DROP ONES—WILL PLEASE THE COOKIE RAIDERS IN YOUR FAMILY.

IT MAY be surprising but it is not mysterious that the contents of that well-filled cookie jar seem to shrink. No matter how well it is guarded, it seems unable to resist raids. A few days after a batch of cookies has been made up, strangely enough there seem to be none left, as planned for use later in the week.

There is nothing that children like better for a school lunch than cookies for dessert, especially if they are large. When I was in Michigan this summer, the only criticism by the young when they were offered home-made cookies at our house was that they were just too little. Even grown-up males seem to prefer the large to the small, which they consider hardly worth while eating.

We usually choose drop cookies to serve at lunch, whether it is eaten from a box or at the table. A spicy oatmeal cookie is both appetizing and satisfying. Drop chocolate cookies are always better than rolled cookies with this flavor and, of course, much easier to prepare.

A center garnish of a whole nut or a raisin adds to the appearance of any type of cookie and is as good as it looks when it comes to eating.

Spiced Chocolate Cookies.

Three cups sifted all-purpose flour, two teaspoons double-acting baking powder, one teaspoon salt, one teaspoon cinnamon, one-fourth teaspoon nutmeg, one-fourth teaspoon cloves, one-half cup cocoa, two cups sugar, one cup shortening, two eggs, three-fourth cup milk, one cup chopped nuts, pecan or walnut halves for garnish.

Sift flour, baking powder, salt, spices and cocoa together. Gradually blend sugar with shortening and beat in eggs. Add sifted flour mixture alternately with milk. Stir in chopped nuts. Drop from a teaspoon onto lightly greased cookie sheet. Flatten to one-fourth-inch thickness with spatula. Place pecan or walnut half in center of each cookie. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 12 to 15 minutes. Cool on wire racks. Store in tightly closed tin box or cookie jar. Yield: four and one-half dozen large cookies.

Oatmeal Cookies.

Two cups sifted all-purpose flour, one teaspoon salt, three-fourths teaspoon double-acting baking powder, one teaspoon cinnamon, one teaspoon ginger, one-half teaspoon cloves, one and one-half cups quick-cooking oatmeal, two cups dark brown sugar, firmly packed, one cup shortening, two eggs, two tablespoons milk, one cup seedless raisins, one cup chopped nuts, whole seeded raisins for garnish.

Sift flour, salt, baking powder and spices together, and mix with the oatmeal. Gradually blend sugar into shortening. Beat in eggs. Gradually stir in flour-oatmeal mixture and milk. Add seedless raisins and nuts and mix well. Drop from a teaspoon onto lightly greased cookie sheets. Place whole seeded raisin in center of each cookie. Bake in moderate oven (370 degrees F.) 10 to 12 minutes or until lightly brown around edges. Cool on wire racks. Store in tightly covered tin box or cookie jar. Yield: three and one-half dozen large cookies.

Furniture Repairs.

FEW things about the house resist attempts at repairs as well as furniture does, and we've found that the more costly the furniture the more violent is its resistance.

Try to use a wood screw on a piece of furniture and the wood splits; try to drive in a small brad and the brad simply bends over and gives up or the wood splits. The whole business can be pretty maddening.

One of the best little menders for furniture we've ever found is a small wire brad or finishing nail, but it has to be installed just so. The way to install the nail or brad is first take one of the same size, snip off the head and use this in your drill to make a hole in the wood. You'll find that a nail or brad does very well as a drill point in either a hand or power drill.

Once the hole has been made another brad or finishing nail can be driven into it and you'll find that it not only won't split the wood or bend over but will hold very well. By the way, don't drill the hole too deep; it should not be quite as deep as the length of the nail that is finally set into it. This allows a portion of the nail to get into wood that has not been drilled.

When the nail has been driven almost all the way down, use a small nail set to finish driving it in and then set the head of the nail slightly below the wood surface. The small hole left over the nail head can be filled with plastic wood and when this is dry it can be sanded smooth and finished to match the finish on the piece of furniture.

My Day

Getting Out the Vote

By Eleanor Roosevelt

COLUMBUS, O.

I HAVE been struck by the fact that so many people were really concerned with getting us to register and vote this year.

On the plane coming into New York the other day the last thing our pilot said was: "Remember you have two days left to register and vote." I was astonished to have this come over the communication system.

I ALSO want to pay tribute to all the teen-agers who enlisted in the campaign for getting out the vote. They are called "Teen-age Election Volunteers," and it is estimated 1,000,000 high school youngsters obligated themselves to take part in this nonpartisan teen-age election drive.

The American Heritage Foundation started off this idea, which was sponsored jointly by Scholastic Magazine and the Foundation. The youngsters were given a button on which was written "Election Volunteer." This seemed to me a good thing to do, because it gives young people a concrete thing to represent their civic service.

AND NOW for a little purely Democratic news. A group of women of the Democratic National Committee in Washington, among them Mrs. Adlai Stevenson Jr., Mrs. Fred Vinson, Myrna Loy (Mrs. Howland Sargeant) and Mrs. Todd Duncan, have volunteered their services to help launch the new "Democratic Mail call."

This is a personal letter-writing campaign to get people to the polls on November 6. Mrs. Katie Louchheim, vice chairman of the Democratic National Committee, assisted by Mrs. Gladys Tillett, former vice chairman of the National Committee, are co-ordinating the whole campaign.

They are getting men and women to write a minimum of five letters on their own personal stationery, urging friends and acquaintances to go to the polls and vote Democratic on November 6.

This is in the nature of a chain-letter undertaking because each will, in turn, ask five other persons to write to friends. In this way, they hope to reach thousands of people. These letters can be written in odd moments, no matter how busy someone is, and I think could win a much larger vote than otherwise on election day.

Tasty Tricks

You have no idea what mincemeat will do for muffins. Blend three-fourths cup moist mincemeat with the egg, melted shortening and milk. Use quarter cup less milk to equalize mincemeat juice.

Popular Footwear

The pump with pointed toe and buckle trimming is a favorite footwear fashion. Cut steel buckles are revived, and there is a trend also to revive the tailored bow or buckle of black grosgrain on the black black suede pump.

Social Problems

By Emily Post

"WE sent flowers to the funeral of the mother of a friend of ours, but nothing ever has been said to us about them. I have seen this friend several times, but she said nothing and no written acknowledgment has been made. I do happen to know that others have received notes of thanks. I am wondering if they ever received our flowers or whether the card was lost. What can I do about it?"

Ask your friend exactly that question—"I know you have sent letters of thanks to other people, and not having heard from you, I am wondering if the flowers that we sent you were lost."

DEAR MRS. POST: When eating in a public restaurant and the waiter holds the chair for you, should this courtesy be acknowledged with "thank you," or is it taken for granted?

ANSWER: It is taken for granted.

Contract Bridge

By Easley Blackwood

MR. CHAMPION glared when Mr. Muzzy took him out of three no trump into four spades. He thought of bidding four no trump in another effort to get the play for himself, but was afraid Mr. Muzzy would take it as asking for aces.

South dealer.

	Mr. Champion ♠109 ♥KJ10 ♦QJ10 ♣AKJ75
Mr. Abel ♠K43 ♥Q862 ♦92 ♣9864	NORTH WEST EAST SOUTH	Mrs. Keen ♠62 ♥A943 ♦A7653 ♣103
	Mr. Muzzy ♠AQJ875 ♥75 ♦K84 ♣Q2

South	West	North	East
1♠	Pass	2N.T.	Pass
3♠	Pass	3N.T.	Pass
4♠	All Pass

The opening lead from Mr. Abel was the deuce of hearts. The 10 was played from the board and Mrs. Keen won with the ace. After considering her own hand, the dummy and the bidding, she came up with a nice defensive try which should not have worked—but did.

She returned a small diamond, hoping her partner had a doubleton in that suit and a quick trump winner. If this were the case, Mr. Abel might get to ruff a third lead of diamonds.

Mr. Muzzy played low and dummy's 10 won. There was a lull in the play after this trick and apparently Mr. Muzzy thought the ace had been played on his left. "Come on, Abel, lead something," he said.

Mr. Abel pointed out that that dummy had won the trick and the next move was up to Mr. Muzzy. It was now clear that Mrs. Keen held the ace of diamonds and even Mr. Muzzy caught on to the plan she had in mind.

It appeared necessary to him to take out as many trumps as he could and as fast as possible. He banged down the ace and another spade. But Mr. Abel won the second spade with the king, led a diamond to his partner's ace and ruffed the diamond return. Down one.

"Why didn't you finesse on this hand?" Mr. Champion asked.

"The king of spades was wrong," Mr. Muzzy replied. "What good would it do to finesse?"

"Who said anything about finessing spades?" answered Mr. Champion. "Just bang down the ace of spades like you did and then take the marked heart finesse against the queen. On the king of hearts, discard a diamond. Then lead your second spade. Later, when Mrs. Keen leads the third round of diamonds through, you would be out of the suit, too. Ruff high and you've got the hand made."

Are You Preparing For Retirement?

By J. Earl Smith, M.D.
St. Louis Health Commissioner

TODAY, with social security benefits, pensions and other retirement plans, we all look forward with keen anticipation to the time—usually after age 65 — when family obligations will be less demanding and leisure-time will replace our work day life.

Yet to the many physically fit, mentally alert men and women who retire each year the autumn of life may prove to be a time of idleness, loneliness and boredom.

ON THE OTHER HAND, if you have prepared yourself for the new and different life you will lead after retirement, your leisure may prove as rewarding and satisfying as any other period in your life.

The intelligent person knows that a short-sighted view of life can lead to tragedy—that it is not safe to wait until the last day to begin his apprenticeship for retirement. He asks himself early in adult life: "What shall I retire to?"

The answer may be to continue his usual occupation on a more leisurely basis—particularly feasible for professional and self-employed persons. For others it may be a new occupation requiring less physical exertion than the old one, or even a part-time job.

A hobby, developed in youth, will add interest and meaning to your leisure years, and sometimes incidental rewards in pocket money to supplement pensions.

THERE are hobbies to suit every taste.

For others, leisure opens the doors to the world of music, art, literature or travel. There are community activities for the public spirited. Worthwhile civic projects oftentimes couldn't be undertaken without men and women who can give freely of their time, knowledge and experience. Many organizations need volunteers to carry on their programs, and there is nothing more satisfying than helping others less fortunate.

Let's Explore Your Mind

By Dr. Albert E. Wiggam

Answer to Question.

I BELIEVE so, and why not? My mother had a spinster housekeeper of 82. It never occurred to me that glamour had ever occurred to her. But one day she spied a workman coming up the walk carrying some tools for repairs. She shot back to her room and, in a jiffy, met him with her face as rosy as a schoolgirl's. Plastic surgeons tell me that they lift the faces of women in the sixties and seventies who are as thrilled as debutantes. Girls of the sweet seventies—I'm all for it!

* * *

Yes ..... No .....

No. Young married couples have about the same accident rate as bachelors and bachelor girls. Psychiatrist Neil Dayton says in his study of 89,190 cases of mental breakdown, "New Facts on Mental Disorders," this is probably because marriage has not yet had such influences one way or the other. However, as time wears on, bachelors have twice as many fatal accidents as married men and single women, 40 per cent more fatalities than married women. It's plainly dangerous to life and limb to remain unmarried!

True ..... False .....

True, according to William W. Wattenberg in his book, "The Adolescent Years." He says: "What a youngster was like as a child established the point of departure for the path he takes as a teen-ager. Throughout later years, we are likely to detect strong influences of the first 10 years. These by no means decide fully what his later behavior will be like; however, they do help explain why not all teen-agers can be expected to act the same. To understand any teen-ager, we must know something of his past."

PANEL DISCUSSION HELD ON 'TIGHT MONEY MARKET'

A panel discussion on the "Tight Money Market" was held today at a session of the annual midwest regional conference of the American Savings and Loan Institute at Hotel Statler. The meeting opened last night with 300 delegates from the seven states in the region in attendance.

Members of the panel included: Dean Pritchett of the Home Loan Bank of Des Moines, Ross Robertson, financial economist of the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis; Larry Seeman, president of Mortgage Syndicate Inc., and Ralph D'Oench, a real estate dealer.

"Institute Insanities" will be presented at the annual banquet tonight. Today's program also included a breakfast for chapter officers, an address on "Proper Use of Trustee Accounts and Signature Cards" and a luncheon address by Dr. Virginia E. Jackson, a lecturer in psychology.

DRIVER SLASHED ON CHEEK, ROBBED OF $30 BY 2 MEN

Joseph Akiki, 1436A South Eighteenth street, was slashed on the cheek with a knife wielded by one of two men who, he said, halted his automobile at Eighth street and Park avenue early today.

After cutting him, the robbers took $30 and fled on foot. Akiki, 32 years old, was treated at City Hospital.

2 MEN ROB CONFECTIONERY

Michael Budick, operator of a confectionery at 1825 California avenue, and Mrs. Ruth Babb, a clerk, were held up last night by two men, one armed with a revolver.

The men, who ordered sausage before announcing a holdup, took $60 from the cash register and $30 from Mrs. Babb, then fled in an automobile.

FORMER GOVERNOR SMITH OPPOSED TO VETO SESSION

Proposed Constitutional Amendment No. 1, providing for special sessions of the Missouri Legislature solely to consider vetoes, is opposed by former Governor Forrest Smith as endangering sound state government.

In a statement realsed by the Missouri Public Expenditure Survey in Jefferson City today, Smith said the proposed amendment "would stimulate conflict between the legislative and executive branches. It would place pressures on a Governor he should not have to consider when making up his mind on a bill," former Governor Smith observed.

WEEKLY STOCK TABLE IN SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH; NO SESSION SATURDAY

A COMPLETE table of closing prices on transactions of the week on the New York Stock Exchange with individual sales and net changes from the week before, will be found regularly in the Sunday edition of the Post-Dispatch.

STOCK TURNED IN, ASSURING 2 INSURANCE FIRMS' MERGER

Merger of the American Insurance Co. of Newark with the American Automobile Insurance Co., 112 North Fourth street, was assured today with announcement by both companies that holders of more than 80 per cent of shares in the local company have tendered their shares in conformity with an exchange offer.

Boards of directors of both concerns will meet Friday to put into effect the merger program. The merged company will keep the name American Insurance Co. with headquarters in Newark, N.J. The merger doubles the size of the company, making it one of the country's major fire and casualty firms.

PEDESTRIAN SAYS ROBBERS POSING AS POLICE STOLE $26

Samuel Thomas, 2601 Geyer avenue, told police he was robbed of $26 early today by two men posing as police officers.

Thomas, 56 years old, said he was walking in the 1500 block of South Jefferson avenue when the men got out of an automobile, displayed badges and one said: "The captain wants to see you." Thomas got in the machine, which was driven to 2700 South Jefferson avenue, where he was robbed and pushed into the street, he said.

STEERS STEADY TO HIGHER, HOGS STEADY TO OFF

NATIONAL STOCKYARDS, Oct. 13 (USDA weekly review of livestock market):—

Reduced marketings of choice steers and heifers found active demand and 50c or more advance in price in week ended Friday, lower grades generally steady, while stockers and feeders were barely steady at the previous week's close. Slightly increased numbers of cows saw utility and commercial about steady, canners and cutters strong to 50c higher. Bulls were unchanged. Few vealers were included in sharply increased marketings of calves, vealers holding steady while slaughter calves declined $1@3. Tops for week: Prime 1044-lb. steers $28.50, choice 1022-1015 lb. $27; choice 850 lb. feeder steers $18.50; choice 1058 lb. mixed yearlings $26; commercial cows and bulls $13; prime vealers $24.

Bulks for week: Choice steers and heifers $24@27; good and choice steers and heifers $20@24.50; standard grade steers and heifers $15@19.50; cutter and utility $10@13.50; medium and good quality stocker and feeder steers $13.50@17.50; utility and commercial cows $10@12.50; canner and cutter cows $7@10; utility and commercial bulls $11@13; good heavy fat bulls $11.50@12; canner and cutter bulls $9@11; good and choice vealers $18@22; standard and good $14@19; good and choice slaughter calves $14@17; standard and good $10@13.

Barrows and gilts 200 lb. up closed 15@25c lower while lighter weights were steady to mostly 25c lower for the week. Sows were 25@50c off. For the week the bulk of the 200-270 lb. barrows and gilts sold at 16@16.50 with about 2000 head of 1 and 2 grade 190-240 lb. at $16.60@16.75. Most 170-200 lb. offerings went at $15.50@16.25, 150-170 lbs. $14.50@16, and 120-140 lb. weights at $13@14.25. Sows 1 to 3 grade 400 lbs. down bulked at 14.75@15.25 with several lots mostly No. 1 under 300 lbs. to 15.50 and 35 head to $15.60. Heavier sows brought $14@14.75. Boars cashed at $10@13.

Slaughter lambs closed 50c higher for the week while ewes sold steady and a few yearling wethers were steady to strong. Top for the week was $20.50 paid rather liberally for choice and prime lambs late in the week. For the week the bulk of the good to prime wooled lambs brought $17@20.50, utility and good $13.50@17; cull and utility $8.50@13. Several lots of good and choice 80-95 lb. shorn lambs with No. 1 and 2 pelts went at $18@19.50 with one lot of choice and prime 108 lb. lambs No. 1 pelts to $20. Good and choice 90-110 lb. shorn yearlings with No. 1 and fall shorn pelts moved at $17@17.50 and cull to good shorn slaughter ewes cashed at $3@4.

COMMODITY PRICE INDEX DECLINES 4TH WEEK IN ROW

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (AP)—The Associated Press index of 35 commodity prices declined for the fourth consecutive week, but was still well over the similar week a year ago. At 182.20 the index compared with 182.99 a week ago and 171.42 a year ago.

Industrials, grains and cotton and all food declined, while livestock, textiles and non-ferrous metals were higher.

PRICEWISE MARKET IS BETTER THAN VOLUME

Stocks Gain on Week as Sales Set New Low Since Aug. 19, 1955.

By ELMER C. WALZER
United Press Financial Editor

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (UP)—World Series baseball and a pseudo-celebration of Columbus day, no longer a stock exchange holiday, brought transactions on the big board down to a new low since Aug. 19, 1955 during the past week.

Pricewise the market was much better than the sales volume. The Dow-Jones industrial average closed the week at 490.19, up 7.80 points and a new high since Sept. 21; rails, 160.79 up 1.98 and a new high since Sept. 5; utilities, 66.49, off 0.06; and 65 stocks, 173.09, up 2.06 points.

Sales for the week totaled 7,406,995 shares or a daily average of 1,481,399 shares. This contrasted with 10,384,168 shares or a daily average of 2,076,833 shares last week.

Between this week and last industrials gained 14.94 points and rails, 6.78 points.

World Series Factor.

World Series games brought the volume down sharply early in the week. On Tuesday, for example, the trades fell to 1,220,000 shares, smallest for any session since Oct. 27, 1953. On Wednesday when the last out was made at Ebbets Field the professionals rushed back into the market and sent the industrial average soaring six points. Another rally came on Friday.

That Friday rise—2.13 points in the industrials and 1.47 points in rails — was accompanied by official statements that defense spending may rise next year, and there will be ample credit for essential needs.

The tight money bogey was said to be wearing thin as a market factor on the adverse side. The same went for Suez. Also, the street was said to be less apprehensive over the election outcome which was said to have brought some recent declines.

Good Corporate News.

There were several favorable corporate items during the week. McGraw Electric voted to merge with Thomas A. Edison, Inc. Mead Corp. increased its dividend and declared a 2½ per cent stock extra. Brown Shoe raised its dividend. Crescent Corp. voted a 5-for-1 split. On Friday, American-Hawaiian Steamship, to be liquidated, ran up 7 points to the tune of unconfirmed reports the liquidation price will be $150 a share.

Friday's rise was generated by strength in the rails where the mover was Great Northern whose directors surprised the street with a dividend rise. The stock gained more than 3 points.

American Telephone turned around after setting a new low and closed with a gain of nearly a point on the week. The issue had been depressed by arbitrage operations in connection with its financing operations.

More Highs in List.

A majority of the issues traded closed higher on the week and the number of new highs increased. There were 1382 issues traded. Of these 765 closed higher on the week and 442 closed lower. There were 175 at the previous week's close. Forty stocks made new highs, 112 made new lows.

Among the week's wider gainers were American-Hawaiian Steamship, up 10½ points, Bestwall Gypsum up 7, Eastman Kodak up 5, National Lead up 6½, Ingersoll-Rand up 6, Lukens Steel up 9, United Aircraft up 4¼, and Timken Roller Bearing up 5.

Among the leaders U.S. Steel netted 1¼ points, Union Carbide 2½, International Nickel 3¼, Chrysler 2⅞, and Bethlehem Steel 2½ points.

Acquires Refractories Plant.

Robinson Clay Products Company's refractory plant and property at Alexandria, Pa., have been acquired by the Laclede-Christy Division of H. K. Porter Company, Inc. The sales and operation of the plant will be combined with those of the Laclede-Christy Division it was said and the new operation will be known as the Alexandria Works.

MISSOURI PORTLAND CEment Co. reported nine months net income of $2,980,536, equal to $4.13 a share on net sales of $15,608,583. In the corresponding period last year net was $2,326,202 or $3.22 a share on sales of $14,245,532.

Uncle Ray's Column

By Ramon Coffman

RECENTLY we had in this column a letter from a woman who said she remembered seeing a "star inside a crescent" about 38 or 40 years ago. I also spoke of a later, but similar, sight which many persons believed they saw in 1944.

A Texas man wrote to me about the second event, and a photograph was printed in a different city of his own state the next morning. The photograph showed that the so-called star (really the planet Venus) had been just outside the crescent.

WITHOUT a photograph, an astronomer could tell that there had been an optical illusion. The moon is a solid object, and it is a complete sphere at all times. It is as round as a ball whether we see it as a crescent, a half moon or a full moon.

Planets and stars are many times as far away as the moon. Last month Mars came "close" to the earth, but even so it was 145 times as far from us as the moon.

There are times when the planet Venus comes within 26,000,000 miles of us. Then it is 105 times the average distance of the moon from the earth.

It has been a long time since the Turks adopted a star inside a crescent as the emblem of their nation. This figure has been popular in jewelry.

REGARDLESS of the Turkish emblem, a true star never could appear inside the crescent of the moon, and neither could a planet. True stars are trillions of times as far from the earth as the moon.

An asteroid might appear on the near side of the moon. In that case it could be mistaken for a planet or a star. In the history of astronomy, however, I have not found any record of an asteroid which appeared inside the moon's crescent.

Facts about Mexico's people and their customs, also about the ancient Aztecs, appear in the leaflet called Mexico and the Mexicans. This leaflet will be sent to you without charge if you inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Send your letter to Uncle Ray at the Post-Dispatch.
